Bonus Marchers Break Camp And Evacuate Johnstown

FIRST GROUP STARTS FOR HOME TODAY

Train Furnished to Carry 1000 to St. Louis and Points in Midwest

BUGLE SOUNDS COLORS

Free Gasoline and Oil Furnished to Those With Autos for Long Trip

CAMP McCLOSKEY, Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 4.—(UP)—The American flag was raised and the bugle sounded colors probably for the last time today for the bonus expeditionary force—the army was being mustered out.

Sad, disillusioned men, women and children packed their scanty belongings and started the long journey home—or back to the state whence they came.

Packing was halted and the packers stood at attention when "Old Glory" was raised. Men stood bareheaded. Children stood at salute. There were tears in many eyes.

Then the packing was resumed, for at Fernside, three miles away, a train provided by some good samaritans waited to carry 1000 to St. Louis and points west.

So, the army ordered disbanded by their commander, Walter Waters, and their host, Mayor Eddie McCloskey after disease and famine threatened the camp, went down with colors flying, not a man admitting defeat.

The first contingent of 356 in five railroad coaches pulled out for "home" today.

Those with automobiles and trucks were to be given gasoline and oil today.

Complete evacuation of the camp by Friday noon is expected, McCloskey said he would use force to remove those who straggled behind.

The second trainload of home-going bonus veterans left Fernside at noon today. There were 1120 in 14 day coaches. The train was bound for St. Louis.

JR. CHAMBER HEAD OPPOSED TO BONUS

PASADENA, Aug. 4.—(UP)—George Olmstead, Des Moines, Ia., president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, in convention here, was on record today against payment of any part of the soldiers' bonus "not earned at the present date."

Olmstead led an attack on payment of bonuses. Himself an ex-service man, Olmstead declared that the bonus fixed in 1924 to be paid in 1945 with interest, was considered fair then and is fair now with the purchasing power of the dollar increased.

"We, the younger businessmen of America, representing 52 per cent of the nation's active business men, stand for a fair deal for the ex-service man and at the same time a fair deal for our country," he declared. "It is not that we love its defenders, less, it is that we love our country more."

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 4.—(UP)—"Teddy" Hayes and Lena Copeland Baskett, 22, were married here on Oct. 14, 1931, by Police Judge Harry Semendi, it was said today at the marriage license bureau. Hayes gave his age as 43, and his address as the Forest Hotel, New York City. Miss Baskett gave her address as the Hotel Salisbury, New York City.

The Newark Ledger in a copyrighted story said Miss Baskett was Lina Baskette, motion picture actress, and that Hayes was former trainer of Jack Dempsey.

GUARDS RESCUE HUNGRY MINERS DURING NIGHT

Over 3000 Union Men Are Dispersed By Troops Near Terre Haute

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 4.—(UP)—National guardsmen rescued 64 miners, hunger-weakened, including four wounded, today from the Dixie coal mine where they had been besieged by 3500 angry union pickets for nearly 48 hours.

The line of pickets surrounding the bullet pocked mine property melted away in the darkness as the 250 troopers approached. Firing on the mine continued until the guardsmen were within 500 yards of the scene.

The powder begrimed band of mine defenders told the troopers they had arrived just in time.

"We had given up hope of a rescue," the miners said. "Our ammunition was nearly exhausted and the fire from the picket lines had grown more fierce. If they had attacked us again, we could not have beaten them off."

The four wounded men, struck by bullets in one of the fiercest exchanges Tuesday afternoon, had received no medical treatment until the guardsmen arrived.

The miners were nearly exhausted after being under fire almost continuously, they said, for 23 hours. Every man was armed with a rifle, revolver or shotgun and stacks of hand-made dynamite bombs were piled ready to throw at any pickets who ventured too close to the mine property.

The mine buildings were riddled with bullet holes. Twenty-five automobiles which had brought the men to work the morning the siege began were torn and battered by the heavy fire of bullets.

CANFIELD'S WIDOW WINS COURT RULING

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Jessica Kingsley Canfield, contesting for a share in the $2,000,000 estate of Byron H. Canfield on the claim she is his surviving widow, held a preliminary victory today in a decision by Judge A. B. Bibler.

As a prelude to the principal contest of the will next Sept. 13, Judge Bigler upheld Jessica Canfield's contention that a Nevada divorce obtained by the late publisher's first wife, Meta Louise Canfield, was legal.

M'CORMICK MAY MARRY AGAIN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(UP)—The names of Harold Fowler McCormick, millionaire Chicago manufacturer, and Mrs. Rhoda Tanner Doubleday, wealthy New York divorcee, were linked today in a reported romance.

Both are here to attend the Olympic games, and both gave different answers to questions regarding rumors of a possible marriage.

Seabury In Hot Attack On Walker

Mayor's Credibility Questioned by Prosecutor in Formal Charges

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Legal phraseology which all but included the word "liar" was used by Samuel Seabury in a scathing rebuttal to James J. Walker's defense against charges he was unfit to be mayor of New York City.

Study of the 20,000 word document delivered to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt revealed a savage attack on the mayor's credibility, including charges that the dapper playboy was "guilty" of all removal charges, that his defense was "unworthy of belief," and his "so-called explanations must be rejected."

Seabury has filed the removal charges himself. He had indicted the mayor on 15 counts, chief of which were that he accepted gifts from individuals and corporations interested in city franchises or contracts, and that he was financially interested in firms which obtained city contracts.

That bit of Seabury's condemnation of the mayor concluded:

"On this record of equivocation, evasion and contradiction, the mayor has demonstrated himself to be unworthy of belief where his official conduct is called into question. If this be so, then his so-called explanations must be rejected."

Seabury went so far as to say in plain words that one bit of Walker's testimony was "false." He referred to Walker's explanation of $246,000 received from a joint stock trading account owned by Paul Block, newspaper publisher. Walker had explained he was entitled to the profits because he was legally bound to be responsible for his share of losses in the account.

Today that boy, now 42 years of age, stood on the threshold of the great national congress his illustrious father distinguished as a member from Missouri.

Col. Bennett Champ Clark held the Democratic nomination for United States senator from Missouri after a political battle that stirred voters in the most remote corners of the state.

He was radiantly happy today. An ambition he had succored since childhood was near realization. He had fought, a good fight, and had won against odds for the nomination.

His victory in Tuesday's state primary won for him the right to oppose Henry W. Kiel, Republican nominee, in the November general election for junior United States senator from Missouri.

A two-listed fighter, Clark fought the powerful Thomas J. Pendergast Democratic political machine of Kansas City to defeat its candidate, Charles M. Howell. Howell came out of Kansas City with a lead of more than 75,000 votes and lost his advantage.

JO CRUICKSHANK IN SEMI-FINALS

BEN EASTMAN AND CARR TO MAKE FIRST APPEARANCE IN OLYMPICS THIS AFTERNOON

OLYMPIC VILLAGE, LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4. (INS)—The two stars in the American Olympic cast who drew the most attention in the pre-games competition—Bill Carr, the Pennsylvania flyer, and Ben Eastman, Stanford's pride—were to be trotted out today before an admiring public with every indication that they may steal the show in the closing stages of the great international extravaganza.

They were billed for preliminary runs in the 400-meter dash, the closing act slated for tomorrow—sturdy little rival for two defeats providing they both qualify, a foregone conclusion with American track enthusiasts.

They are renewing a sensational duel with the Games as the background—a duel which carried Carr from comparative obscurity to glittering fame and a new world's 400-meter record of 48.9 seconds in turning back "Blazing Ben" at the final tryouts at Stanford.

As they go to their marks they are asking no quarter, either from each other or from the galaxy of foreign stars, and Carr's brand new mark, almost sure to be eclipsed—a mighty feat.

Both the Pennsylvanian and the Californian are in great condition.

CHAMP CLARK'S SON NOMINATED BY DEMOCRATS

Will Contest Henry Kiel, Republican in Missouri Elections

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4.—(UP)—The late Champ Clark, for many years speaker of the House of representatives, once listened to his 10-year-old son Bennett Champ, deliver a political address.

Arbitration Is Proposed In Document

Outlaw Conquest of Land in Western Hemisphere By Force of Arms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(UP)—The United States has joined with sister countries in outlawing the conquest of land in the Western Hemisphere by force of arms.

This new and important doctrine was laid down in a strenuous effort to quench the war flames in Bolivia and Paraguay.

Assembled at the State department, the envoys of 19 nations signed notes to the disputing countries saying they would recognize the legality of any gains by force in the disputed Chaco territory.

They proposed arbitration of the fundamental Chaco dispute and investigation of aggression charges by each of the disputing parties.

By their action, the 19 countries struck a blow at territorial imperialism in the New World. If their precedent is followed, no American nation may take the territory of another and have its title recognized by neighboring countries. The doctrine appears to give aid and comfort to any Latin-American country fearing aggression from the United States.

The movement in behalf of this new doctrine was understood to have originated in Mexico. The policy was patterned, however, on Secretary Stimson's note of January 7 to Japan and China. He then warned that the United States would not admit the legality of any situation resulting from force in violation of the Kellogg pact.

The notes to Bolivia and Paraguay did not mention the Kellogg pact for Bolivia is not a signatory. They closely duplicated the pact's language, however, declaring:

"The American nations have long been the proponents of the doctrine that the arrangement of all disputes between them can only be sought by peaceful means."

The new Latin-American "non-recognition doctrine"—which may parallel the Monroe doctrine in importance—was contained in the last paragraph of the neutral note. It read:

"The American nations further declare that they will not recognize any territorial arrangements of this controversy which has not been obtained by peaceful means for the validity of territorial acquisitions which may be obtained through occupation or conquest by force of arms."

In another section of the note, the neutrals suggested Bolivia and Paraguay should solve their 50-year old dispute by arbitration or by such other peaceful means as may be acceptable to both.

BRITISH IN CHARGE OF OTTAWA PARLEY

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Great Britain assumed charge at the empire economic conference today after days of waiting for specific proposals from her dominions on how to balance for the gain of all concerned.

British anthracite exports were among the more important discussions with the mother country seeking to increase the output to Canada from 900,000 to 1,400,000 tons. It was argued that the Canadian market is big and getting bigger. British coal men said they did not believe the American market would be affected by the extent of the British-Canadian increase.

SETTLEMENT NEAR IN JULIAN CRASH

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(UP)—The end of years of litigation resulting from the crash of the Julian Petroleum corporation was near today after Superior Judge Clair S. Tappan indicated he would approve a settlement for $250,000 in the suit for $12,000,000 brought by Julian stockholders against the Los Angeles stock exchange and brokers.

Unusual interest was shown in the meeting because the industry long has been tacitly considered a part of the Republican party. This has been due largely to activities of several firm leaders, including Will Hays, Louis B. Mayer and Joseph M. Schenck.

Here's Plenty Of Gold; Try 'n Get It

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(UP)—There is $28,000,000, 000,000 worth of gold in the ocean, according to a study just made by the national research council.

This is about $14,000,000 worth for every person on earth.

The ocean belongs to everyone, so you are welcome to try to get your share.

The catch, says the research council, is that the best methods so far tried require expenditure of $50,000 and several years' work to extract $5000 worth of gold from the seawater.

HOOVER BOOSTS STRENGTH WITH CABINET MOVE

Appointment of Chapin to Succeed Lamont Strong Political Act

(Copyright 1932 by United Press) WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(UP)—President Hoover has strengthened his cabinet at a critical time economically and politically by appointing Roy D. Chapin of Michigan as secretary of commerce.

Chapin is an ace in the automobile industry. His appointment was announced by President Hoover when he made known the resignation of Robert P. Lamont of Illinois. It was explained that Lamont's private affairs required his attention. His resignation gave Mr. Hoover opportunity to bring new blood to Washington. Chapin is expected to take office in about 10 days.

Chapin's appointment is significant for two reasons. One is economic. The other is political. Economically, the administration believes the turn has come. It is afraid to make another optimistic prediction but hopes are going up daily. At this decisive time Chapin, an aggressive organizer, salesman and promotion man, with business contacts extending

LIBBY HOLMAN IS ACCUSED OF MURDER

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Aug. 4.—(UP)—Libby Holman Reynolds, former Broadway stage and night club star, and A. B. Walker, Winston Salem youth, were named in true bills charging murder returned today by the Forsyth county grand jury investigating the death of Zachary Smith Reynolds at the Reynolds estate here on July 6.

Mrs. Reynolds, who was known on Broadway as the "torch" singer because of the peculiar huskiness of her singing voice, and Ab Walker, the Reynolds heir's life-long chum, were held temporarily as material witnesses in the case during an investigation by a coroner's jury.

Reynolds died of a bullet wound received in the palatial Reynolds estate. His wife was in the same room when he died in a hospital. Walker, his best friend, was in the house. His death followed a party at which liquor was served.

PICTURE INDUSTRY BACKING ROOSEVELT

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4.—(UP)—The motion picture industry, long known as a Republican stronghold, showed first signs of political insurgency today when prominent executives and stars staged a Roosevelt mass meeting.

Unusual interest was shown in the meeting because the industry long has been tacitly considered a part of the Republican party. This has been due largely to activities of several firm leaders, including Will Hays, Louis B. Mayer and Joseph M. Schenck.

TICKERS RUN FAR BEHIND; SHARES SOAR

Over 3,000,000 Shares Change Hands in Busiest Day of This Year

MANY FOREIGN ORDERS

A. T. & T. Passes Par While United Biscuit Jumps Up 18 Points

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(UP)—Wall Street was treated to its first 3,000,000 share day of the year today—another installment in the baby bull movement that has been in progress since July 9.

Increased popular interest in the gathering boom brought in a horde of buying orders and for a time tickers ran four minutes behind trading and it was necessary to abbreviate quotations to keep pace.

Rising tendencies were in evidence until shortly after noon. Up to that time the active stocks had risen 1 to 5 points and the less active 1 to 18 points.

Trading ran at a 5,000,000 share pace in the first half hour but by noon only 2,000,000 shares had turned over. By 1:30 the total reached 2,900,000 shares and by 2:10 the 3,000,000 share mark was crossed in the heaviest turnover since October 6, 1931.

Trading fell off in volume in the late dealings. This shrinkage occurred when profit-taking developed to bring prices down from their highs. It was interpreted as a distinctly favorable factor.

The late selling reduced gains considerably, but most prices were still above the previous closing levels except in the railroad group where net losses predominated. Utilities also slipped off.

The feature of the day was American Telephone & Telegraph's ascent to above par. It reached 100 1/8 where it was up 3 7/8 points.

Steel Common at its high for the day was at 34 1/4, up 2 3/8 from the previous close; Allied Chemical 68 3/8, up 4 7/8; American Can 46 1/4, up 3 7/8; Atchafalpa 37 1/4, up 3 1/8; Union Pacific 52 5/8, up 4 1/8; Coca Cola 94 1/2, up 4 3/4, and Standard of New Jersey 33 1/2, up 2. Three gains were cut down in the afternoon reaction, but in the last few minutes pressure lifted, and several advanced from the day's lows.

Several preferred stocks made wide gains, including Adams Express at 40, up 15 7/8; American Power & Light preferred at 31, up 7; Atchafalpa 60, up 5; Engineers Public Service warrants 40 1/2, up 10; Public Service 8 per cent 115 up 8; Tidewater 55 up 11 3/4, and United Biscuit 93 up 18.

At their highs today a majority of issues were back to levels

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, Aug. 4. (To the Editor of The Register): It's awful hard to get your mind on such insignificant things as Republicans or Democrat candidates with 1500 picked athletes of the world breaking records under your nose. If an athlete wins an event and don't break a world's record we hiss him out of the arena.

Incidentally, the man that brought the first "slaves" to this country must have had these Olympic Games in mind, for these "Senegambians" have just about run the white man ragged. Every winner is either an American Negro or an American white woman.

Wait till we get to golf, bridge, or cocktail shaking, then the American white man will come into his own. Everybody out here is predicting this California record-breaking to continue right up till after November 8 when Roosevelt will outrun Hoover, Tolan, Metcalfe and maybe Babe Didrikson.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS

CHAMP CLARK'S SON NOMINATED BY DEMOCRATS

Clark is almost every other present in the state.

Clark is a young man. Yet, his career in public life has been a varied and colorful one. As a young law school student, fresh from college he became parliamentarian of the house of representatives in which his father served. He held that post for five years and then retired to enter the army during the World war.

He was discharged from the army in 1919, a colonel of infantry. His military title has come to him. Two years later he began a private practice of law in St. Louis. He was married in 1922.

The lure of public life was too strong, however, and in 1924 he heard his name placed in nomination for the Democratic vice presidential nomination in Madison Square Garden.

Clark's hobby is biographies. His biography of John Quincy Adams, which won the 1921 Atlantic Monthly annual non-fiction prize, was published last year under the title, "J. Q. A.: Old Man Elongated."

Clark based his campaign upon an appeal for repeal of the 18th amendment and upon economic issues. He was one of the leaders to urge an outright repeal plank in the last Democratic national platform.

ALLEN LAUDS JURY; PICNIC ARRANGED

The jury panel that was discharged from duty today by Presiding Judge James L. Allen is a good jury. Judge Allen told the members that such is the case, and they immediately started plans for a reunion picnic to be held next Thursday evening in the city park at Anaheim, to which the three superior court judges and court attaches are being invited.

It all started in Judge Allen's court when he announced that the current jury's period of service is ending today and that he would issue an order for their discharge. Judge Allen then thanked the panel for services and praised the members for the intelligence displayed in their decisions. The judge informed them that this was the best jury panel in the county and could go no further as a burst of applause swept the courtroom.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON By Paul Mallon

R. F. C.

President Hoover had to reach down deep in the bag for that Pomerehne appointment to the R. F. C. Both Al Smith and Newton Baker are known to have privately turned down the post. For a week the president fussed around trying to find someone. Baker recommended his fellow Ohioan—not necessarily with the idea of helping the Roosevelt campaign.

The appointment did not satisfy the president's desire for an outstanding, nationally-known Democratic figure. It did fill the bill for honesty and integrity and for a man who will work in harness.

Pomerehne was known in his Senate days as "The Undertaker." The name grew out of his black ties, stand-up collars and serious mien. Hence the present merry quip: "The president has called in the Undertaker for the R. F. C."

The smartest inner political maneuver of recent days was President Hoover's action in leading down the R. F. C. with Democrats.

For months Democrats have been quietly gathering ammunition against the Mills type of voter. Speaker Garner was heavily armed on that subject. Inside stories about the type of loans the president wanted to make were in the hands of the Democratic high command. Senator Couzens was lifting the lid to see if the president intended to finance campaign funds by the choice dispensing of these government loans.

The president dumped the whole thing politically into the laps of the Democrats by appointing a majority to that party on the board. And they said he does not know anything about politics.

ABROAD

Add to signs of the turning tide, the following: A month ago the state department emphatically announced we would enter no international conference where war debts and reparations were to be discussed.

A week ago the department refused to re-affirm its former statement.

There is a strong current from abroad in favor of holding the proposed London world economic conference in Washington. The British government apparently inspired a story recently printed in the London Daily Mail predicting the conference would be held here.

Japan is developing her own plans while we are busy with E. E. F.'s and whatnots. Her recent decision to put her own postal system into the Manchurian state caused the state department to burn under the collar. Privately we consider that to be a direct repudiation of our treaties. It slams the Chinese open door right in our face. What we will do about it remains to be seen.

DEBTS

This disarmament for debts swap may come up soon in the "conversations" we are to have with Great Britain over the naval part of the Hoover disarmament proposal. The "conversations" were authorized in the Lausanne agreement. They will be held under cover, ostensibly to work out a basis of agreement between the Hoover and British plans.

Some of the Old Guardsmen got curvatures of the spine trying to twist out of their strong opposition to the administration's proposed war debt maneuver.

Lumber-backed Leader Watson gave the tip-off on the situation. Immediately after Senator Borah's speech the Jordanian criticized severely any suggestion that we talk about debts with anyone. Three days later he came around handsomely to the view that it might be a good idea to swap the debts for disarmament.

Word that the president had such a proposition in mind got around the inner circle in the meantime. Watson expects to be a lame duck after election day and now is the time for all good men to prepare for the aid of the party.

NOTES

White House newsmen have stopped submitting questions at the White House press conferences. . . . They are never answered. . . . Whenever the president has something to say he gives it out in mimeographed form. . . . They call Henry Allen, the new Republican publicity director, "Bollingerplate" Allen because he favors a boilerplate type of publicity. . . . He is deluging the smaller papers with printing matrices instead of material that must be set up in type. . . . As an old-time publisher he knows his payrolls. . . .

with Republican success. The next few weeks may bring interesting developments here. . . .

BONDS

Recent eight-fold over subscription of the two new issues of treasury notes is largely due to the fact that large banks have more money than they know what to do with. The change in sentiment has been such that long term bonds at a higher yield are more popular than they have been for a long time.

Several months ago Mrs. Harris filed suit for divorce from her husband charging him with cruelty. In her complaint she alleged that Harris had ordered her to leave the floor during a dance in Capistrano. When she returned to her home that night, she alleges that her husband refused to admit her and threatened her life. She asserts that she was advised by a policeman to take her youngest child and spend the night in a hotel.

She also accused Harris of abusing her and calling her vile names and choking her. She said that he threatened to throw her out of their home. She also said that her husband refused to take her to places of amusement.

In his cross-complaint, Harris charged that his wife removed money from the cash drawer at his lunch counter and had on at least one occasion created a scene in the place when he asked her for the keys to the family automobile after she had attended a dance that he had requested her not to attend.

BANKS

The New York banks as a whole have not worked up much interest in the possibility of issuing national bank notes under the provisions of the Borah-Glass amendment to the Home Loan Bank bill. Chase National is an exception and will issue notes, although not to the extent permitted by its capitalization. National City called in all its notes in 1929 and has no intention of issuing new ones now.

UNREST

Although the bonus riots were more or less anticipated here the actual event is regarded soberly. Sympathetic flareups are not feared but Union Square—the New York Communist debating ground—is being closely watched.

SHORTER HOURS

A leading sponsor for the thirty-hour week says that he goes by without someone reminding the president that shorter work shifts are the only remedy for vast unemployment. It is hoped that the New England conference on the subject will develop to national scope.

LEGION

Inside information indicates that the American Legion's disavowal of legislation authorizing payments to veterans whose disabilities are not traceable to military service is going to start a red hot row within the organization. A great many of the most active Legion members are beneficiaries of this very legislation and regard the Legion's official attitude as something akin to treason. They are not likely to quit quietly.

PUBLICITY

There are signs that some of the optimistic news that is getting into print these days is emanating from well organized sources concerned

BEN EASTMAN AND CARR TO MAKE FIRST APPEARANCE IN OLYMPICS THIS AFTERNOON

However, the American pair are strong favorites and a nerve-tugging battle is in the offing, especially as Eastman has recovered from whatever ailed him in the I. C. 4-A meet and the Olympic tryouts seems to be again the same smooth-striding human running machine who amazed the world early this Spring by knocking a full second off the sixteen-year-old 440-yard world's record of 47.4 seconds, a mark that means he cut well under Carr's present 46.9 for the 400 meters.

Recovers Pep "Ben has filled out down here; has recovered his pep, and is going great guns," Lawson Robertson, head coach of the American team, told International News Service.

"He and Bill have been running 350-yard practices like a couple of champions. They should battle it out for the Olympic title, but— with a shrug—"You know how those things go in the Olympics—from out of nowhere comes a speedster who knocks you silly sometimes."

Eastman, in training jaunts, bore out Robertson's contention of his return to form. His stride was long, powerful and sure. He ran like he felt good, an altogether different picture from the Eastman who floundered about before Carr's driving finish at Berkeley and Palo Alto, flinging his arms and legs wildly, a tired, exhausted star.

He has been taking it easy in training, filling up the reservoir he drained in his early season bursts of blinding speed. He looks like he's right again, but only the fires of competition can prove it.

He's even developed a new note of sureness in his voice. "Oh, I'm feeling great," he said, submitting to a brisk run in training quarters. "Really never felt better; all ready to go."

And Carr? Just the same pleasant brilliant runner he's been all season.

"That boy doesn't worry about anything," commented Robertson, his coach at the University of Pennsylvania. "He's ok."

"Yes, sir," nodded the courteous Carr, with a trace of Arkansas drawl, as he watched some sprinters working. "I feel all right. Ben and I should have some great runs; we really should. But we've got to look out for these foreign runners."

CONTESTED DIVORCE SUIT BEING TRIED

Mrs. Frances M. Harris and her husband, Harold Harris, proprietor of a lunch stand at San Juan Capistrano, are facing each other in department two, superior court today in Mrs. Harris' contested suit for divorce.

Several months ago Mrs. Harris filed suit for divorce from her husband charging him with cruelty. In her complaint she alleged that Harris had ordered her to leave the floor during a dance in Capistrano. When she returned to her home that night, she alleges that her husband refused to admit her and threatened her life. She asserts that she was advised by a policeman to take her youngest child and spend the night in a hotel.

She also accused Harris of abusing her and calling her vile names and choking her. She said that he threatened to throw her out of their home. She also said that her husband refused to take her to places of amusement.

In his cross-complaint, Harris charged that his wife removed money from the cash drawer at his lunch counter and had on at least one occasion created a scene in the place when he asked her for the keys to the family automobile after she had attended a dance that he had requested her not to attend.

DEMOCRATS MEET AT BEACH FRIDAY

Santa Ana residents who are candidates for office on the Democratic ticket this fall together with many local Democrats are expected to attend a big Democratic rally to be held at Huntington Beach tomorrow night.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock at the Huntington Beach Memorial hall, it was announced. The principal speaker will be Zack Cobb, well known Los Angeles attorney.

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Roland Halstead was born July 23, 1922. At school his classroom is No. 23, and he resides at 2323 Clement street.

POSITION ON ISSUES TOLD BY SHORTRIDGE

Pledging himself to continue to urge a high protective tariff on foreign oil and to resist all efforts to reduce present rates on California products, United States Senator Samuel M. Shortridge was campaigning in Orange county today.

The senator, escorted by Charles C. Chapman, of Fullerton, and a group of Orange county supporters, came to Santa Ana at noon to address a combined meeting of service clubs. Tonight he will talk at Birch park at 9 o'clock following the band concert.

Other meetings for the senator, who is campaigning for re-election to his present office, a position he has held for the past 12 years, were held at Fullerton in the morning and at Orange, Anaheim and Huntington Beach in the afternoon.

Emphasizing that he is a Republican and reaffirming his allegiance to the principles of that party, Senator Shortridge, in each talk, outlined his position on current issues.

Oil Tariff

"California's oil industry," the legislator stated, "is not receiving adequate tariff protection. During the last session of Congress my colleagues and myself succeeded in securing a tariff rate of 21 cents per barrel on foreign oil. The figure should be $1 per barrel and when the short term of Congress opens in December I shall demand that the rate be increased to that amount."

Opposition to cancellation of war debts, imposition of a ban upon further immigration of Filipino laborers into continental United States, resubmission of the Eighteenth amendment to popular vote and adequate veterans' legislation were given by the senator as planks in his senatorial platform.

"We loaned our late allies of the World War billions of dollars," declared the speaker in his address here at noon. "Most of this was borrowed from us after the Armistice. Today the nations of Europe owe us eleven billions of dollars. There is no moral or legal reason why we should not demand and receive payment of this sum, for we have already reduced the original war debts substantially. My position is that, having borrowed from the taxpayers of this nation to loan to foreign nations, our government cannot and should not cancel or further revise downward the present obligations."

In discussing tariff Senator Shortridge asserted that were it not for the tariff during the present depression the citrus industry of California would have been unable to survive. California, he said, has more items on the tariff schedule than any other state of the Union.

Leaves for San Diego "I am a high tariff man," he said. "I am in favor of a genuine American protective tariff, a tariff that will not only yield needed revenues but will in fact protect all the manufacturing, mining and agricultural-horticultural industries giving employment to our people in shop, in mine and on farms."

Senator Shortridge and his party will leave Orange county tonight to continue on to San Diego where the senator speaks tomorrow noon at a luncheon to be broadcast over the stations of the National Broadcasting system.

Leaving, the senator sounded a note of hope for better times and the return of normal prosperity.

"Our nation," he said, "has been in the dark valley of depression, but I feel warranted in believing and saying that the light is breaking—that we are on the upgrade."

STOCK MARKET TRADING SETS YEAR'S RECORD

Considerable buying came from foreign sources, London and the European continental cities being prominent in this respect. Professional traders were less eager to buy as the day wore on and not a few were distributing stock, according to reports. Some new short lines were put out near the close.

According to preliminary calculation, the Dow Jones & Company industrial average stood at 53.61, up 1.39 points, railroad 21.95, off 0.05 and utility 24.20, up 0.33.

Sales were 3,500,000 shares, against 2,400,000 shares yesterday.

Plane Tangles With Light Lines

Edmond Frasher, South Pasadena pilot, narrowly escaped possible death or serious injury at 10:30 o'clock this morning when an airplane he was piloting swooped too low and tore a number of wires loose from Edison company poles near the Newport Yacht basin west of the Balboa Island bridge.

Newport Beach police investigated the matter and found that the plane was not seriously damaged nor was the pilot hurt.

SLOW TRAIN

REDWOOD CITY (UP)—Henry Madison hitched a bossy cow to the caboose of a freight train. The cow raced the train all the way from here to San Jose during the night.

HOOVER BOOSTS STRENGTH WITH CABINET MOVE

far beyond the automobile industry, is brought into the department of commerce. His job is to stimulate activity and keep up shell-shocked business.

The second consideration is political. LaMont was so unimportant politically in his own state that when he was appointed one of the Illinois Republican senators asked who he was. His political activity was nipped when he innocently told reporters, as he emerged from his first cabinet meeting, that he was a director in the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. He did not indicate any particular shame at being such and the resulting headlines such as "Hoover Cabinet Member Wet" caused the kindly gentleman to lose favor as a political tower of strength around the White House.

Chapin—and this is one of those delicate matters which it is not considered good taste to mention above a whisper—has the ear of many business men who could, if they would, contribute to the Republican campaign chest. He wouldn't solicit funds but he might be "helpful" in a general way.

S. A. MAN PRESENT AT TRAGIC AFFAIR

Word was received today by Mrs. W. C. Childers, 815 North Baker street, of an exciting experience had by her husband who is now attending the annual meeting of the International Baby Chick association in Milwaukee, Wis., as the California delegate.

Childers was a member of the committee that suspended C. A. Norman, of Tennessee, from the association, a past president, for unethical practice after a hearing on the matter. Upon announcement of the decision Norman drew a gun and began firing, killing Charles L. Sawyer, president, and seriously wounding Reece V. Hicks, general manager and secretary, before ending his own life.

Childers wrote that he was bruised and skinned up in the excitement and turmoil that started with the gunplay.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

The threat for understanding companionship is so hard to bear; the sense of weakness in the face of the mystery of death is appalling. Sometimes the thought of God's presence seems to sink into cynicism and despair, you plunge forward and make a new venture of faith in God's love and strength, and you discover His sustaining presence to give you courage along with the certainty that He is well with your best beloved.

PLANNING BODY ANNUAL REPORT IS SUBMITTED

Organization of the committee on street naming, authorized by the Orange county planning commission, was completed today when that body held its monthly meeting. Following appointment of representatives on the committee from the various communities, the members held a brief session and named Dr. C. D. Ball, Santa Ana, chairman, and George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the group.

Community representatives on this committee are: Anaheim, George Reid; Brea, Edward M. McDonnell; Placentia, Thomas Pickering; La Habra, L. M. Hopper; Buena Park, Duke Gaughan; Fullerton, Harry May; Orange, V. D. Johnson, Will McPherson and Mrs. Dian Gardner; Santa Ana, Dr. Ball, A. J. McFadden, George Raymer and Catherine Metzler; Huntington Beach, Ray Overacker; Seal Beach, Elmer Hughes; Garden Grove, Frank Monroe; Westminster, Clyde Day, and Laguna Beach, George Thompson.

Seek Uniformity
This committee, according to Jules Markel, secretary of the county commission, will work with a similar group from Los Angeles county in an effort to secure uniformity in the matter of naming streets and highways that traverse the county.

When the committee was organized it was pointed out that many of the main traffic arteries have so many names in this county that automobile travelers often become confused. They say that some of these highways have one name in Los Angeles county and are given a different name in each community that they traverse.

Report Prepared
Members of the commission also approved the annual report of the organization for the fiscal years 1931-32 and authorized Secretary Markel to present a copy to the board of supervisors and to take another to the annual meeting of the California county planning commission association being held tonight in Los Angeles at the Alexandria hotel.

This report outlines work accomplished during the past year and tells plans being prepared for the future. The annual report of the commission covers work that has been done in the preparation of a uniform building code for the county, and tells of cooperation extended the inter-city planning committee of clubwomen.

It also outlined recommendations for the future, when economic conditions justified additional expenditures. Among these recommendations were: county park at Huntington Beach in conjunction with the city of Huntington Beach and state park commission; beautification of some specified desert region as a state park; and setting aside of designated hill portions of the county for future development of county parks.

BANDITS GET EXTRA PRISON SENTENCES

Burton McBride and Roy Brent, two of the bandits who held up the Kilpatrick Baking company here and the Anaheim office of the American Telephone company, and who later figured in a daring attempt to escape from deputy sheriffs in Los Angeles, were sentenced in the Long Beach superior court yesterday on robbery charges.

Joe Brady, third member of the gang, was shot and killed in the attempted escape, which occurred on July 15.

McBride and Brady each were sentenced to serve five years to life, in addition to the sentences they received in the Orange county courts.

SNEAK THIEF GETS $54.50 AT ORANGE

A dapper, well dressed thief robbed the office of the Barr Lumber company on North Lemon street in Orange of $54.50 yesterday afternoon.

The thief entered the office and asked the bookkeeper, W. W. Cudworth, if his truck had come to the lumber yard to pick up 25 sacks of cement. Officers believe the truck and cement story was but a ruse to gain entrance to the office without exciting suspicion.

While the man was in the office, a customer came in with some lumber to be dressed. Cudworth took the lumber to the mill and while he was dressing it the thief opened the cash drawer in the office and escaped with $54.50 under cover of the noise made by the machinery.

Orange police, headed by Chief B. F. Richardson, today are conducting an investigation of the robbery.

OLIVE STREET WELL NEARING COMPLETION

Workmen are today cleaning out the new city water well, located on Olive street, north of Sixth street and the well will be completed within the next two weeks, it was announced today.

A depth of 978 feet was reached by the drillers, who completed their work at the well yesterday. It will probably be a month, however before the well is put into operation, due to several minor adjustments which have to be accomplished first, DeWitt Dudley, city engineer stated today.

The well is designated as No. 16 of the city's water supply wells.

A plentiful supply of water was discovered as anticipated, officials say.

The new arrest was made late yesterday near San Juan Capistrano, by Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Art Zeils and Deputy E. E. Perry, when two 10 foot stalks of marijuana were found growing in the front yard of the home of A. V. Marquay, 39, laborer, Marquay was arrested and lodged in the county jail.

He said he had a number of the stalks in his yard but had cut them down but two. The plants were the largest seen in the recent raids.

The men held to answer to the superior court by Justice Kenneth Morrison were: E. Yepes, Joe Carrisoza and Joe Verdusco. Bail of $2500 each was placed on them, none of which made bail. A special venire of 20 jurors was summoned this morning for the second trial of Frank Wilkie of Anaheim, accused of non-support of his wife. At his first trial, held in July, the jury was unable to reach a verdict and was discharged after deliberating more than 10 hours.

At Wilkie's preliminary hearing, his wife, Mrs. Minnie Wilkie, created a sensation when she accused her husband of an attempt to poison her. At that time defense attorneys ridiculed the charge and declared that such charges had not been intimated until the time of Wilkie's preliminary hearing.

ASKS CITIZENS TO AID FIGHT AGAINST BOOZE

In a radio address over station KREG, during the W.G.T.U. hour Mrs. L. R. Ridenour, of the Huntington Beach union outlined the life of Capt. Robert Dollar, told of his spectacular rise from a chore boy to the head of a great industry that makes its influence felt in all sections of the world, of his stand against liquor, and called on citizens to continue the fight against liquor.

She told of his work as a member of the American Bible society and paid a tribute to him as an ardent temperance worker. Closing her talk Mrs. Ridenour said: "We have lost our 'Grand Old Man of the Pacific.' He has left behind him a life that will never die in the hearts and lives of the American people. When he started his steamship lines he said no liquor should go aboard his vessels; neither be used by his crew nor the passengers. Many friends said he would not succeed if he kept this rule to the letter. But he said he would fall first before he would change. To the surprise of his friends his plan succeeded and his ships were always well filled and well manned.

"These wonderful principles have meant much to the cause of temperance. We need more men and women today who will fearlessly stand for the eighteenth amendment. We need a wider spread of temperance throughout the length and breadth of our wonderful land. I mean temperance in every way, in everything we do.

"Just now a great fight is before us, we need men and women to go out and spread the news that every loyal patriot may help make this old world more safe for the generations that are to come. We cannot and we will not see this fair land of ours put back 100 years. We are an educated and progressive people, we must go forward; but we cannot do this unless everyone does all he or she can in the small corner where we live.

In our extremity we need to put our shoulders to the wheel and push with every ounce of our strength of we wish to see success crown our efforts. Nothing that is worth while in this life comes cheap and easy. The laws of our nation were not made in a day. We cannot return to a lawless nation. None of us want to return to savagery. The youth of today knows nothing of the sillon days. Let us by our untiring effort make it possible for them never to know or see this curse again."

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES NOW ENGAGED IN SHADOW BOXING; FUR TO FLY LATER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—This part of the political season, on the surface, is always devoted to shadow-boxing and getting into position for the campaign.

The campaign cannot be considered officially opened until President Hoover is notified of his renomination and delivers his speech of acceptance on August 11. It can hardly be regarded as actually begun until Governor Roosevelt has made his first campaign speech in New Jersey on the 27th. And it won't really be warmed up until around the middle of September when the fur begins to fly.

Lay Groundwork Now The candidates meanwhile make a few vague passes at each other such as Roosevelt and Hoover exchanged in their telegrams about the St. Lawrence power projects, but the important preliminaries now in progress consist not of such minor public exhibitions but of the intensive efforts of the party managements to lay solid groundwork for themselves and grease the skids for the other fellows.

Right now there's a tremendous effort to attract the support of the business men and the politicians of the east. It is especially determined on the part of the Roosevelt leaders because they were led to believe, after the Chicago convention, that Roosevelt's big peril was the enmity of the conservative element which dominates industry, industry and finance in the states which have the largest electoral votes.

Hoover, throughout his administration, has seen eye to eye with that element and up to this time has lost no opportunity to stress his conservatism.

"Progressive" Roosevelt, on the other hand, what with his almost complete reliance on the west and south for delegates to nominate him, the progressive character of some of his support and his own mild assertions of progressivism, has established himself—relatively, at least—as the progressive candidate.

Many of the smarter political writers consequently have rushed right out to assert that it looked as if Roosevelt were licked in the east.

New Factors But when you consider the east this year there are certain new factors which seem, to this writer at least, to render more questionable any prognostications based on past performances.

At other times grateful for prosperity or inspired by the belief that it was synonymous with Republicanism, the industrial states have been hit hardest of all by depression and unemployment. Definitely wet, they find the Democratic party asserting itself to be wetter than the Republican party. Nevertheless, Roosevelt is hot after the eastern conservatives and those eastern electoral votes.

Boss Hague Promises Politically, he gets his sworn enemy, Boss Frank Hague of New Jersey, who said he couldn't possibly carry that state, to promise him 200,000 majority in November and a crowd of 100,000 Democrats at Secaucus on Aug. 27.

He starts taking Governor Ely of Massachusetts, another die-hard anti-Roosevelt man, into camp, tosses flowers at John Raskob and J. P. Morgan and sends his emissaries to conciliate Al Smith.

And invited to Albany is an impressive procession of men whose names are synonymous with big business and finance—Owen D. Young, B. M. Baruch, a railroad president or two and others. Leaders of the farm groups come, too, but no sooner do you get through reading about those fellows than you hear that the post of Democratic treasurer for 1932 has been offered to Melvin A. Traylor, the illustrious Chicago banker who is one of the few big bankers left for whom there is widespread respect.

Each child entered will receive a thorough physical examination and score cards will be presented to the parents. The baby beauty show will be staged at the high school auditorium the afternoon of August 30, and silver loving cups are to be awarded the prettiest baby girl and the most handsome baby boy. Beauty certificates will be given to the other high scoring babies.

The coronation pageant will take place the evening of September 6, and special cups and prizes are to be given the "Junior Royalty" at that time. These children will be chosen from the highest scoring babies in the whole show.

The registration office is at 405 North Main street and entries will start at 10 a. m. Saturday morning, with special prizes offered the first 50 babies entered. This office will be open every day from nine in the morning until six in the evening. The last date for registrations will be Wednesday, August 17.

2 minutes a day keeps them like new
DO YOU know why the Lux way of washing doubles stocking wear? It's because Lux is made to preserve elasticity. That's the "live" quality that makes stockings give under strain. Stretch and then spring right back again. If you wash away elasticity, then the delicate threads break under strain, starting ruinous runs. Or they sag, causing wrinkles, snaky seams! Just toss your stockings in Lux suds each night and see how beautifully they always fit and what a long time they wear!

SAYS NOW IS TIME TO BUY MERCHANDISE

Calling attention to the fact that prices of raw materials are beginning to move upward and that this will soon be reflected in retail merchandise, A. Cavalli, manager of the merchants division of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, today declared that the merchandising event planned early next month will be an unusual opportunity to secure new merchandise at the current low prices.

"Every merchant will have a fresh display of new fall merchandise for this event," he said. "No old stocks will be shown and every article in the stores of the Santa Ana merchants will be up-to-the-minute goods, marked right for this event. The bottom of merchandising has been reached and all commodities are swinging upward. The big wholesalers and jobbers throughout the nation are getting new merchandise from the mills and this will help the local merchants in displaying a stock better than Santa Ana has ever seen.

"It is predicted that this winter there will be a sharp marking up on all apparel and almost every commodity. The buying public will be given a great opportunity to buy now before the increase comes. Already merchants have been asked to pay higher prices for holiday goods."

The book is both realistic and beautiful, according to the reviewer.

To The Citizens Of Orange County

Last week there were attacks on myself and The Register by most of the publishers of the county. These attacks were almost identical in language. They were identical in import.

I know that this personal attack, just at this time, in the midst of a primary campaign, was political in its purpose, and designed to raise false issues and deceive the voters. Most of these statements I believe the publishers knew were untrue. Some of them I know the publishers knew were untrue. Why did they do it?

Why from time to time are these assaults made on me and The Register? What wrong things are we espousing? Is there any news we are concealing?

Are these assaults on The Register in the interest of the people as a whole, or on behalf of a political ring which has controlled this county for twenty years, including nearly all of these same papers, which ring we have been forced to oppose, in order to preserve intellectual integrity and the independence of The Register as a newspaper?

CITIZENS, The Register and its publisher are assaulted because of what they stand for and urge, and if the things they stand for are for your interest, you should know it, and if not, you should know it.

Tomorrow night over Radio KREG, 1500 kilocycles, at 7:30, I will tell the public in plain English why this opposition, why a certain brand of politicians are against me, and why they will continue to be against me.

Some of them are against me and the paper because we stand for the Constitution and the Law. Some of them are against us because we insist that public officials shall obey their oath of office and support the 18th Amendment.

This political crowd was angry because The Register followed the leadership of the Law Enforcement League and supported candidates for sheriff and district attorney who were selected by the League.

This same brand of politicians are hostile because we have been against the conduct of public business in secret. They are hostile because we have been insisting that public business should be conducted in the open, to protect the people from raids on their money that can only be put over in the dark. I will give the facts on this tomorrow night over KREG.

Men who have been running your affairs for you behind closed doors for 20 years are hostile to me and The Register, because we maintain the taxpayers and ordinary citizens have a right to know what is being done by the officials with their money. They know, and we know, that government expenditures can only be cut by public officials working in the open.

These men are hostile to us because we insist that the needs of the unemployed are as sacred as political deals, in which deals taxpayers' money was used for political ends to buy support for the gang from those benefited.

They were angry when The Register pointed out that a bond issue, which it was planned to put over, wasn't necessary as there was some $300,000 in the treasury then uncontracted for. They were angrier when we proved it on them.

They were angry when we objected to turning 3500 unemployed out on the streets and when we urged these were more deserving than political ends for which it was planned to use the money.

Some of them were angry when we made a fight against the gang who were robbing the poor by the slot machine route, and the slot machine fraternity have since tried to buy the silence of this paper.

They know they are simply trying to "throw dust in the air" by pretending that The Register blew hot and cold by contrasting editorials on the Ortega highway, one written in 1929, the other a few days ago. They know that, and the editorials are clear that we are for this and any other similar expenditure when we can afford it. We would never have expected this highway to be abandoned. Our only thought was that it might be postponed for a time, if money was so scarce that the county was, as the supervisors declared to the unemployed, "broke".

Some of the favored few and the Santa Claus officials were angry when we insisted that the gas tax be divided in the interest of justice and equity, and not by the caprice and favoritism of officials, through doles to selected friends.

They were angry when The Register has insisted that public contracts be submitted to bid, rather than be given to personal friends at higher rates.

This brand of politicians were angry when The Register and its publisher pointed out that in one item alone, that of printing the delinquent tax list, it cost the taxpayer over $5000 more than The Register offered to do it for, and give four times the circulation of it. We will handle the "selfish phase" of this matter "without gloves" tomorrow night over KREG.

The politicians who have been spending the people's money so long without considering the masses of the voters or the taxpayers are terribly angry when The Register insists that public expenditures must be reduced not only a little, but very materially.

We have been insisting that the two parties whose interests are paramount are the taxpayer and the unemployed just at this hour. The one must have his burden lightened, or he loses his property. Some of them are already losing it. The other must be aided, not at the expense of further burdening the property-tied-taxpayer, but at the expense of personal and machine politics, and the expenditure of money for friends by officials.

Those who assault the publisher and The Register declare that The Register is trying to build a political machine. They know better. They know that we are standing for certain principles, and policies, and for any men who stand for them. We will tell you over KREG why we take this stand and why they misrepresent us.

But we want to here and now publicly and emphatically declare that we will be frankly and openly for all candidates who take their position upon the following principles:

1. For the enforcement of the law, as an official, which includes the 18th amendment and that he shall not connive with or wink at its violation through personal attitude or official relationship.
2. Against secrecy in conducting the public's business.
3. Against the domination of any clique or group or the use of influence or power by such groups for personal ends.
4. For a definite and immediate curtailment of public expenditures all along the line.
5. Against public contracts at increased rates to friends over what they can be gotten for from others.
6. To give the taxpayer the benefit of the cheapest rate where a bid can bring down the cost.
7. For an equitable and just distribution of the gas tax money.
8. In favor of such unity of public funds, so as to insure the judgment of all the supervisors on any expenditure of any considerable amount of money, whenever it may be expended, instead of as now handing each supervisor a share of money to spend as he sees fit, regardless of the necessities of the rest of the county.
9. Fair and considerate treatment of the unemployed on the basis that human beings are more important than playing politics.

Let no mistake be made in respect to the attitude of The Register. It doesn't make any difference as to the attitude these candidates assume upon the publisher of this paper or The Register. He can dislike us or oppose us, but if he stands for the above principles openly and frankly and dependably, we believe he is the kind of a man who should be nominated and elected to public office.

We have supported men whom we did not particularly like, when they have stood for the principles in which we believe. We are doing this today; we expect to do it tomorrow. So, regardless of any past differences, or of any public criticism which a candidate may have made of myself or The Register, if the candidate is for the above principles, he can count upon the backing of this paper. Political machines against the interest of the people are not built by this method.

We say this with the full knowledge that there are some who have been conducting their campaign on behalf of these principles. There are some who are pussy-footing. There are some who directly represent the group which is opposed to these principles. Who are these politicians? Listen and watch their attitude on these principles. They will identify themselves. Those who agree will be happy and those who oppose will not. We will discuss the situation tomorrow night over KREG. If any would prefer being in the studio of KREG during this discussion, where we can greet them, we cordially invite you to be present. If not, we cordially invite you to listen in over KREG tomorrow night.

(Signed) J. F. BURKE.

NEW CONTRACT FOR POWER TO EFFECT SAVING

ORANGE, Aug. 4.—A new contract between the city and the Southern California Edison company went into effect yesterday, a change having been made in a former contract when power supplied by the Edison company for ornamental street lights will be on a meter basis rather than on a flat rate.

It is expected that the change in the contract will represent a saving of some hundreds of dollars to the city yearly as at the present time all of the street lights burn from sunset to sunrise at a cost of about $550 month. Under the new contract lights may be turned off or on at the discretion of the city.

The city in the future will assume charge of the maintenance of the lights, replacing and washing them. Formerly the Edison company had this work in charge. Overhead light are not included in the change.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks pink, don't follow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you feel sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your sour and sinking feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blocks up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

with a talk following his appointment Tuesday evening at the regular dinner held at the Highway Tea Gardens.

The installation of new officers was postponed until next week owing to the absence of the incoming president, Dr. John Waters.

The toastmaster for the evening was A. P. M. Brown, past president and the general critic was C. George Hedstrom.

The twelve-minute speech was given by Ray Hancock. He talked on "Yellowstone National Park" and described its formation, the volcanic action that had taken place, the wild life of the forests and the excellent fishing that is to be found there. The critic was Dr. Max Henderson. Paul Demaree followed with a talk on "Light is an Adventure" and was criticized by Bill Kohlenberger. Arthur Porter criticized J. Wesley Edwards' talk on "Eugenics" and Jack Oldhams' talk on "Observations of the Democratic Convention" was criticized by Chris Hannah.

U. S. SUPREMACY IN OLYMPICS SURE Tolan, New 'Fastest Human,' To Retire From Track

DASH KING TO COACH, STUDY TO BE DOCTOR

By RALPH METCALFE
(I.N.S. Sports Writer)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(INS)—In the late afternoon shadow of the gigantic Olympic Stadium two black youths—one short and stocky, the other tall and lithe—strolled from the American dressing rooms.

The short one, Eddie Tolan, had just been crowned the Olympic sprint king—the "fastest human" in Olympic history. The tall one was Ralph Metcalfe, his sensational teammate. They were in animated conversation—Tolan was probably telling the "inside" of his record-breaking double sprint win—maybe how it feels to be a champion. The reporter lent an eager ear.

Tolan "I tell you I've got to get one now," Tolan insisted. "I can't go another day without a haircut."

His Last Race However, the champion turned his conversation to his great 200-meter victory—the last race he'll run—a new Olympic mark and the fastest time ever turned in by man for that distance around a curve. And here's how he did it.

"I now know the real meaning of eternity and space without end," Tolan smiled. "Eternity is the time it took me to run that 200-meters and unlimited space is between the end of that curve, up that long stretch, to the tape. And I'm through now, I'm hanging up the old spikes."

"At the start, because I was starting on the inside one of the staggered lanes, I could see Metcalfe next to me and George Simpson next to him. I caught up with Simpson on the curve and with Metcalfe just coming off it. Metcalfe faded back suddenly."

'Felt Simpson Gaining' "Yes, it looked like I stopped to let you go by," Metcalfe broke in. "Boy, you were certainly stepping."

"Well," Tolan continued, "I thought Met had slowed up for a gutter and all down that stretch, which I thought would never end, I was tortured by the vision of him suddenly flashing ahead of me. I thought each stride he'd pop into my view."

"And to add to my agony I could feel Simpson creeping up. If I could

Observing the Olympics The Olympic Games are helping to give the boot to old man depression.

A checkup of travel authorities today revealed estimates that approximately 500,000 visitors have been attracted here by the games. Of this number it was estimated more than 400,000 are from outside the state.

Entry stations reported 100 per cent increase in automobile tourists over last year and train, boat and airplane travel increased almost as much.

Stadium attendance to date has been approximately 350,000 with the lesser sports of wrestling, fencing and cycling getting heavy work. Swimming set for next week is a sellout and rowing promises to set a new record while boxing will do almost as well.

Bill Carr, the American 400-meter flash, has been crowned a champion—the champion bull whip cracker of the tenth Olympiad. Bill amuses himself by whipping other residents of 99-year Village with his deadly accomplice with a bull whip—an accomplishment he brought from his native Arkansas.

WILSON CHARLES

Twenty years ago Europe was entertained by a giant Sac and Fox Indian's amazing display of skill in the Olympic decathlon. The red man was Jim Thorne, greatest Indian athlete of modern times.

Tomorrow another aborigine stands ready to try his skill in an Olympic decathlon, that grueling test of man's ability in 10 track and field events. He is Wilson (Buster) Charles, Jr., Oneida tribesman, son of a famous Indian athlete, and former national champion in the 10-event test.

Stevens HURLS HITLESS GAME, LEADERS FALL

Climaxing the most dramatic period in Santa Ana City league baseball history, Pitcher Stevens of Red and White Stores held the powerful J. C. Penney company hitless at the Bowl last night while his buddies were registered a 3-2 victory.

Immediately after this brilliant upset, Al's Auto Service, first half champion but well down in the second half flag fight, knocked off the strong Green Cat cafe, 4-2, which completed a most uncomfortable "Olympic Week" for the city confederacy's big shots, the three top teams all having suffered defeat.

The First National bank, only leading club that hasn't felt the sting of defeat during the "depression," meets the Holy Name society at 8 o'clock tonight and if Al Bushman is on the range for the Catholics they will be favored to make more bad times for the proud pace-setters.

Stevens had a shutout as well as a no-hit game until the seventh inning when two errors and two sacrifices produced as many runs for the helpless Penneys. Gibbs' homer, with Berry a running start in the first inning, gave the Red and White Stores a 3-0 lead. Stevens' double added a run in the fourth. Otherwise, Morse of the Penneys almost kept pace with Stevens. He fanned 12 to Stevens' 9, whiffing the last 6 to face him.

The windup was another mound duel between "Bomo" Koral and Wilson Secord, with Koral getting the decision for Al's Service because of "Bud" Baker's timely hitting. Baker hit three doubles that accounted for three of his team's four runs.

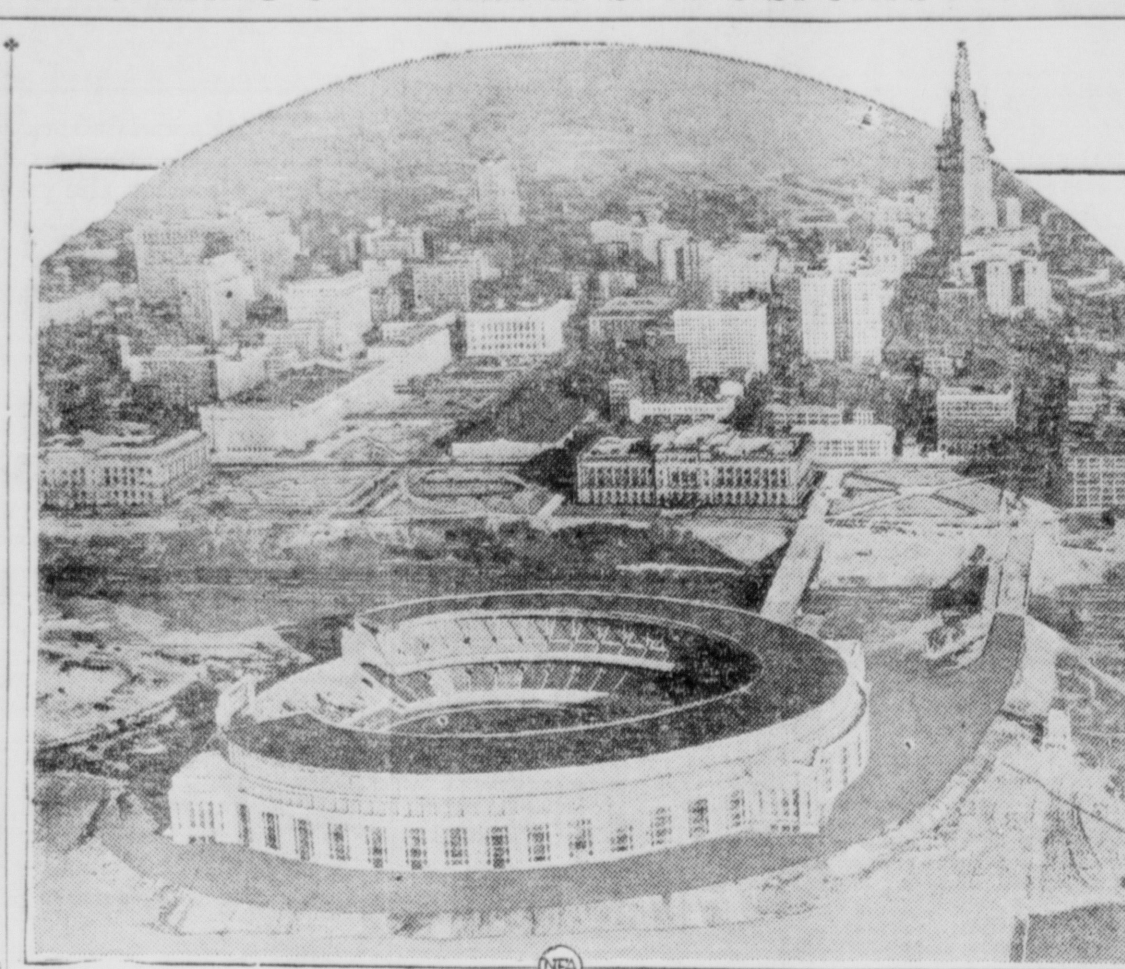

President Kenneth Morrison announced today that two games postponed from July 1—First National bank vs. Al's Service, and MacMillan Gasoline vs. Red and White Stores—will be played at the Bowl tomorrow night at 7 and 8 o'clock, respectively.

HORNSBY USED M'GRAW'S WAY WITH PLAYERS?

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—(INS)—"Hornsby broke the Cubs' morale," "Hornsby dominated everybody until the team developed an inferiority complex," "they don't need Charley Grimm, they need Freud of Dr. Adler," "Hornsby took away their individuality and made them mere puppets," "he had them under such a high tension with his dictatorial tactics that, although they started the season with the idea of fighting rival clubs, they wound up fighting each other."

So ran the aftermath of whippers today as Rogers Hornsby, the man who would be Bonaparte, was en route to his home, alone, while his former charges, the Cubs, remained here in charge of another manager.

Hornsby was suddenly dismissed two nights ago by President William Veeck for "the good of the team." To hear some of the men with the team tell it, Hornsby so dominated the players' lives as to leave them without initiative and, in some cases, self-respect.

There was no definite complaint, only the half-uttered intimation that, while they had felt no resentment against this one-man dominion, they were just a little happier now that Grimm was in and Hornsby was out.

Even so, it seems that the deposed manager was not unpopular and Grimm himself was at considerable pains to deny that there had been any trouble between the man and his players.

What had happened, the players said, was that Hornsby had seen too much of McGraw when the Rajah was with the Giants and that the result had made a profound impression on Hornsby's mind. He had, it seemed, the McGraw complex in its most virulent form and not only did he insist upon thinking for the players in advance, but also during the course of a play and after it was over. It is said that it was this system that first began to un-sell Veeck on Hornsby as a manager.

RULE 'NO SCOUTING' IN EAST-WEST GAME

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—Howard and Tad Jones, coaching rival teams for the Olympic night football game, went into a brotherly huddle today and came out with the announcement of the officials for the contest which will be staged at Olympic stadium Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Officials selected were Herb Dana of Nebraska, referee; Ed Cochran of Michigan, umpire; Horace Gillett of Texas, field judge, and Bruce Kirkpatrick of Occidental, head linesman.

Neither coach has had any information on the other team's lineup or style of play, and the squads, although working out daily in adjacent fields separated only by a tall hedge, will meet unscouted.

Football followers who oppose the system of football scouting customarily followed by colleges will find the ideal condition in Monday night's game as neither the Southern California Jones nor the Yale Jones has known or has wanted to know what the other one was doing.

JAPANESE TRIO BIG THREAT OF SWIM EVENTS

OLYMPIC STADIUM, LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(INS)—"Wow, look at those Japanese boys go!" Crack swimmers from many nations made that remark today as Yasuji Miyazaki, Tatsuga Kawaiishi and Zenjiro Takahashi, each from the land of the rising sun, flashed through spectacular practice sprints, preparatory to the Olympic Games swim championships, which open Saturday.

Each is capable of 58 seconds flat in the 100 meter freestyle event, which is three-tenths of a second faster than Johnny Weissmuller's Olympic Games mark set in 1928. Miyazaki rules a favorite.

Japan "Team To Beat" Everywhere the exploits of the Japanese mermen were being discussed. The Nipponese outfit is labeled the "team to beat."

Dr. Stephen Barany, Hungarian ace, who finished second to Weissmuller in 1928, and Jean Taris, the versatile French champion, are expected to give the Japanese their severest competition.

The three American entrants—Albert Schwartz, formerly of Northwestern university; Raymond W. Thompson, of the U. S. naval academy; and Manuella Kallik, of the Hollywood Athletic Club—are given but an outside chance to crash into the first three places.

Sunao Ishihara, Shozo Makino and Kusuo Kitamura, Japan's great 1500 meter free style trio, faces tough competition from Clarence ("Buster") Crabbe and Andrew M. ("Boy") Charlton, noted Australia speed wizard.

"Boy" Charlton III Charlton, heralded as the "hope of the white race," is not in perfect shape, having been stricken with the flu and kept under observation of team physicians for several days.

The peculiar stroke used by the Japanese is the talk of Olympic Village, where the athletes reside. In contrast to the balanced, even-timed American stroke, the Japanese lunge with their left arm, breath, and then catch up with a right hand stroke.

The Japanese stroke is coupled with a fast, strong kick. Plus much stamina and methodical training, polished speedsters have been developed.

America's strongest bid for water glory rests with the diving squad, which is being picked to finish one-two-three. Harold Smith, Los Angeles Athletic club; Michael ("Riley") Gallitzen, University of Southern California, and Dick Degener, Michigan university, will compete in the springboard events, while Smith, Gallitzen and Frank Kurtz, another Southern California Trojan, will represent Uncle Sam in the high diving.

Finland is proud of her runners and pavelin throwers, but her special pride and joy happens to be "Papa" Jarvinen's husky son, Achilles, shown above. Unofficially, he is the best all-around athlete in the world. He hopes to make the title official in the Olympic Games. Achilles has a record of more than 8200 points scored in the 10-event decathlon. The world record, set by Paavo Yrjola, another Finn, at the 1928 Olympics, is only 8053.29 points. You'll see Jarvinen at the Olympics tomorrow.

COCHET TO PLAY IN U. S. COURT TOURNEY

PARIS, Aug. 4.—(INS)—Henri Cochet, ranking French tennis star, will attempt to avenge his recent defeat by Ellsworth Vines, youth-American ace, by entering the United States championships this September, according to the newspaper Soir.

Charlton, heralded as the "hope of the white race," is not in perfect shape, having been stricken with the flu and kept under observation of team physicians for several days.

YANK TRAINING SYSTEM FINEST OF ALL CLAIM

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(INS)—Olympic history merely is repeating these days down in the sun-baked fiery pit within the high walls of the majestic stadium.

OLYMPIC CREW ATHLETES GIRD FOR BIG RACES

LONG BEACH, Aug. 4.—(INS)—While their fleet footed compatriots fought for honor and glory in a great stadium 25 miles away in track and field events, equally determined athletes today entered on final training here for the rowing supremacy of the world.

Beginning next Tuesday, the rowing events of the Games of the Tenth Olympiad will be contested in a great marine stadium here. According to experts who have come from all over the world it presents the most perfect rowing course yet made available for the great water classic.

The New Zealand crew was the only one among the eight nations entered in the eight that did not go over the course yesterday.

Coach Healey and his men took the day off to see the track events at Olympic stadium. The German eight took a short workout, ending the session with a minute of hard rowing during which they looked good to observers on shore. Coach Gwinger said that he would not put them over the course in a trial until Saturday or Sunday.

The Canadian eight went over the course at low stroke. The time was not announced but unofficial watches caught the Canucks in about 6 minutes, 58 seconds.

Great Britain's four-oar rebuilt to compensate for the absence of Tyler, the three-man who is ill with flu, went out but Coach Drinkwater was noncommittal as to results. The loss of Tyler has made an almost complete shift of the boat's necessary.

The United States eight, distinguishable from the others by their short splashing stroke, went through what Coach Elbright called a fair workout. He said he was

BATTLE OVER MALE BEACH ATTIRE TAKES PLACE AT LAGUNA COUNCIL MEETING

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 4.—Because two petitions were presented last night for and against permitting members of the male sex to go bathing in trunks only, the city council took under consideration the matter of amending the bathing suit law and ordered the petitions filed for future reference.

John C. Gibson, cashier of the Citizens' Bank and a trustee of the Community Presbyterian church, presented the petition asking for the amendment. He said it is signed by 233 property owners and registered voters of Laguna Beach. In support of the petitions, Gibson declared it was the practice on almost all of the beaches for men to wear trunks and the request was in keeping with the times. Although it is not stated in the petition, the speaker said it was the sentiment of those with whom he had talked that trunks should be worn on the beaches only and not on the streets.

The Rev. Raymond I. Brahms, pastor of the Community church, presented a petition asking that the law be allowed to stand as it is. He said he had not counted the names but was sure there were at least two hundred. He read the names of about 70 persons who are either proprietors or connected with business houses and expressed the belief that the sentiment of the business men is against the wearing of trunks, and that they would lose business if the law is amended.

"It is not good to have family squabbles when the guests are here," declared the minister. "I want to appeal to all of you to let this matter rest until after the guests (referring to the summer visitors) have gone. I would suggest a public meeting at the school auditorium where we may learn the sentiment of the people of Laguna Beach."

"I am talking for a group of 'teen' age boys and girls. We must look out for their interests. This is no time to stumble. If we are lax it will hurt the community."

TALLANT TUBBS IS SPEAKER AT NEWPORT MEET

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 4.—Fence-straddling by politicians is one of the main reasons why this country has not so far pulled itself out of its slump, according to State Senator Tallant Tubbs, candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States senate, who spoke at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Newport Harbor Service club yesterday.

Unemployment and taxation are two of the big problems of the United States, Tubbs said, in addition to numerous other economy measures which might be undertaken.

The speaker was introduced by J. A. Beek, of Balboa, secretary of the state senate, where Tubbs has served for eight years. Harry M. Williamson, manager for Tubbs in this district, was program chairman, and many visitors from Dana Point, Seal Beach, Santa Ana and other parts of Orange county attended the meeting.

Tubbs was welcomed to Huntington Beach about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, by a group of friends who met him as he car stopped at Ocean and Main streets. Senator Tubbs had been to Balboa for a dinner engagement and was enroute to Los Angeles when he stopped here for a few minutes to greet his campaign manager for Huntington Beach, City Councilman John H. Marion.

PILES

Ended Without Cutting or Salves

If you think a surgical operation is the only way to get rid of itching, bleeding or protruding piles, it's because you haven't heard of the harmless internal medicine discovered by a prominent western physician.

After years of study, Dr. J. S. Leonard found the cause of Piles to be internal congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins flabby; the bowel walls weak; the parts all most dead. Right away the doctor set to work to find a real internal remedy. He succeeded, and after prescribing it for 1000 patients, with success in over 900 cases, he named his prescription HEM-ROID.

The doctor wants every Pile sufferer to benefit by his discovery. So there will be no doubting or delay McCoy Drug Co. and druggists everywhere are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantees of money-back if it does not end Piles in any form.

So why waste time on external treatments or think of an operation when HEM-ROID tablets are guaranteed.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Cherry Dixon, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, married Dan Phillips, newspaper reporter, after a quarrel with her parents. It is a Leap Year marriage and Cherry is a Leap Year bride.

Cherry and Dan moved into a cheap apartment and Cherry's first struggles with housework began. Dan, who is a movie critic for the News, is friendly. Cherry meets handsome Max Pearson, also of the News, who tries to make love to her. After several weeks Cherry's mother becomes seriously ill. The girl goes home and there is a reconciliation with her parents. Pride will not allow her to accept financial aid from them, however. Mr. and Mrs. Dixon depart, seeking another climate to improve the mother's health.

Brenda Vail, magazine writer, comes to Wellington and Dan meets her. She asks him to collaborate, in writing a play. Dan begins to spend most of his evenings at Miss Vail's apartment. Discord arises between Cherry and Dan. He agrees to meet her for lunch one day but fails to appear. Later she sees him with Brenda. When he returns home and when he returns Cherry is gone. A case in which he does not hear from her. Dan asks Brenda to go to New York with him. She agrees to go within a week.

Next day Brenda prepares to receive a caller. He is Mr. Harris, president of a motion picture company, and Brenda hopes the interview will lead to a contract as a screen actress.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Dan's voice was excited. "Look! he cried. 'It's my story printed under your by-line. Here is the story.' He named a magazine of moderate circulation. 'Kempy's Crime'—every word exactly as I wrote it. An advance copy came to the office and I happened to pick it up. How did they get it, Brenda?"

The woman's face had gone white. Her eyes lighted angrily. "What are you doing here?" she demanded. "I told you not to come."

"But I don't understand about this! There must be some explanation, Brenda. They've no right to print my story without paying me. I wanted to see you before sending a telegram."

After years of study, Dr. J. S. Leonard found the cause of Piles to be internal congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins flabby; the bowel walls weak; the parts all most dead. Right away the doctor set to work to find a real internal remedy. He succeeded, and after prescribing it for 1000 patients, with success in over 900 cases, he named his prescription HEM-ROID.

SAN CLEMENTE OFFICERS MOVE TO HALT SHOOTING

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 4.—When rabbit hunters killed Sherman M. Sykes' cat he said nothing. But when some other hunters last night in quest of rabbits shot at one and the hunter went through an open window in the Sykes' beach front residence breaking the doll of one of the Sykes' daughters, why the father took his revolver, searched for the rabbit hunters, found them and took the three young men to Chief of Police Harry Comber.

Sykes stated he would make no charges but asked the chief if he would try and stop this rabbit shooting in the Spanish Village.

Police Commissioner Earl Von Bonhorst says that a drive will be made against all people who carry firearms or shoot firearms within the city limits. Chief of Police Harry Comber has been instructed to arrest all such persons.

Other complaints of rabbit hunters missing their prey and bullets crashing into homes. A short while ago one hunter shot into the garage of a resident, missing women by but a few feet.

FISHERMAN'S GROUP AMENDS CLUB LAWS

According to F. D. Robertson, chairman of the association's board of directors, the Newport Beach-Balboa fishermen are now signed up 100 per cent.

In amending the constitution and by-laws they were made to read that organization membership may include any fisherman in Orange county, and the fishermen at and near the beach heartily extend to those living in cities inland a welcome to join the organization and profit by its benefits.

Bridge Party At La Habra Staged

LA HABRA, Aug. 4.—Ladies of the Standard Oil employees held their regular bridge party at the Murphy home, Tuesday afternoon. Hostesses were Mrs. C. L. Browster, Mrs. William Sutherland and Mrs. August Seigelhorst.

to you this minute but I don't have it here. I'll get it tomorrow. "So you wanted to surprise me?" Dan repeated. His lip twisted. "Well, you did that, all right. Quite a surprise, Brenda!"

The woman drew away from him. She put one hand to her cheek in a gesture that had been rehearsed frequently. Wistfulness, a pleading note came into her voice.

"Surely you're not doubting me?" she said softly. "It's all a mistake. Dan. A dreadful mistake!"

There was a pause. Then Dan said slowly, "You had letters, I suppose. Can I see them?"

Instantly Brenda's forehead, she'd have to get rid of this fool. He was making a nuisance of himself.

"I had one letter. Of course," she agreed sweetly. "But I destroyed it long ago. Oh, Dan, if you don't believe me I don't know what I'll do. Nobody's ever accused me of such a thing in my life. Why would I take your story? I don't see how you can even think of such a thing. You—you said you loved me!"

"Brenda, you've got to let me see that letter!"

"But I don't have it! I told you it was destroyed."

"Then I'll write the editor and find out for myself. I'm going to know the truth about this thing!"

Suddenly Brenda Vail's fury overrode all caution. Her face twisted angrily. "If you do that you'll be sorry!" she cried. "I'm giving you warning. You can have your old check if you want it. It was only $100 anyhow. What if I did tell the story? It was my name that made them take it—not because it was such a good story. I wish you'd get out of here now. Get out and stay out!"

Phillips did not stir. "I'll go," he said slowly, "as soon as a few more things have been cleared up. 'You're going now!'"

"Oh, no I'm not! Not for several minutes yet." There was something about the level, unemotional tone that was more alarming than anger. "Perhaps," she went on, "you've forgotten. Miss Vail, that yesterday you agreed to go away with me. To New York. There was even a little discussion of marriage, if I'm not mistaken. I mean to recall that you said you were (and of me. Wanted to help me in my career, didn't you? Career—that's a laugh! That's great!"

"When you're through with this idiosyncrasy—"

"Idiosyncrasy? That's what it is today, is it? Well—why not? This is very interesting. Interesting and instructive. By the way, I thought you had a headache this afternoon. Couldn't see anyone. That's a beautiful costume you're wearing. New isn't it? Cocktails on the tray. Do you find them a good cure for headache? Have to try the remedy some time myself. One would almost concede that you're expecting company. No wonder you'd like to have your little friend, Daniel, run along! You wouldn't by any chance tell me whom you're expecting?"

"No, I wouldn't!"

"Then I think I'll stay and find out. As your fiance I'm entitled—"

Brenda Vail whirled. "I've stood about enough of this!" she exclaimed hotly. "You're going to leave here but first I've a few things to say myself. It seems to take a lot to get an idea through your silly head so I'll put it in simple words. I'm sick and tired of you! Do you hear that? I've been tired of you for weeks. The only reason I promised to go to New York was to make you stop talking about it. And maybe you'd like to know that silly play you wrote has come back from every agent I sent it to. When I told you a producer was considering it that was a lie. No producer would take drive like that! The agents said it was hopeless. Well—what do you think of that now?"

Dan crossed the room to the small table. "I think I'll have a cocktail," he said quietly. "I think I need it."

He filled a glass and downed it in a swallow. When he turned he was smiling but it was not a pleasant smile.

"That about makes it complete, doesn't it?" Phillips asked. "You've said my story and spent the money. The play's a flop. Now you want me to get out. Yes, I guess that just about makes it complete!"

Brenda watched uncertainly. Had she said too much? She must get away immediately, no matter how it was accomplished. She hesitated, seeking the right approach.

LAGUNA BEACH DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE SUIT

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 4.—City Clerk G. W. Prior, at the regular meeting of the city council last night, announced that service of a summons and complaint had been made in a suit filed by Samuel J. and Mary R. Shorer to recover $4000 from the city for asserted damages caused by a cut on High Drive, in front of their home, when that street was paved recently.

With only one adverse vote, that of Councilman Champion, the council adopted the Orange County mayors' resolution asking the board of supervisors to allow the cities 32 1-2 per cent of all the gas and auto taxes and to cut the county road tax to 10 cents per $100 of valuation. Mr. Champion said he voted no because he did not think the cut of the road tax to 10 cents would work.

A question of what is art, as far as city licenses go, came up when a letter was read from H. A. Riddell protesting against the paying of license for his business on Coast boulevard. He makes wooden figures with his own hands, paints them and sells them. The matter was referred to the chief of police for investigation. Riddell claimed the same exemption allowed to the painters and makers of the plan.

Complaints of a leaky pipe line, the asserted dangerous condition of a stairway at the foot of Cypress street and two alleged diversions of water that have damaged property were referred to the city engineer for investigation.

Building permits gained $6000 in July this year over the same month of 1931, according to a report made by Building Inspector Floyd Case. The total this year was $17,588.

Former Fullerton Publisher Passes

FULLERTON, Aug. 4.—J. R. Gallimore, founder and publisher of the Fullerton News, which later consolidated with the Fullerton Tribune, died July 22 at Winterhaven, Fla., according to word received here. Gallimore has not resided in Fullerton for about 12 years.

red times above you. You're the sort—"

Brenda's exclamation cut him short. "You fool!" she shouted. "You can't stand in my home and talk to me like that. Why, you poor sap, a lot of nerve you've got! Think you can write—going to be a great author! Bah! I'm sick of hearing those pipe dreams. Stand there and call me names, will you? Well, let me tell you that anything you've got is your hard luck and it was coming to you! I suppose you'll tell me it's my fault you threw away your job this morning. All right—I'm glad of it. Yes, and I hope you have a hard time finding another one!"

She had forgotten everything in the frenzy of her anger. Phillips watched her, scarcely able to believe his eyes. This was not the Brenda Vail he knew. The woman was a stranger. Her face was paper white. Her thin lips worked nervously.

"So you think you can high-hat Brenda Vail?" she cried shrilly. "Suppose I tell you that the man coming here this afternoon is one of the biggest motion picture men in Hollywood. M. P. Harris of United Artists—that's who's coming here. And what's more, he's going to buy two of my stories to make into pictures. I'm going to Hollywood to write scenarios for him. What do you think of that? It's going to mean money—lots of money—fame, success! It's going to mean everything in the world I want. I guess that surprises you, doesn't it? Run away to New York with you—why, you insignificant little worm, I ought to have you thrown out of this room!"

Dan Phillips bowed low. "Your parting words," he said smoothly. "I'll remember them."

In the serving pantry the maid stood close to the door, listening with swiftly beating heart. Yvonne's blue eyes were wide circles. Such quarreling! She had never heard anything like this at Miss Vail's before. And Mr. Phillips! The last time he had seen those two together—

Yvonne suddenly became erect. The bell in the entrance was ringing. It was her duty to answer that bell. Yvonne touched the organdie ruffles of her cap, glanced into the small mirror and saw that her appearance was correct.

This must be the guest Miss Vail had made such preparations for. He was certainly coming at an ill-chosen time.

The maid entered the living room. Brenda and Dan stood there for a moment. Yvonne said hesitantly, "The bell, Miss Vail—you want me to answer it?"

Brenda drew herself up sharply. "Yes, Yvonne, of course. Go to the door at once."

KIWANIS CLUB MEETS AT OFFICES OF UNEMPLOYED; LEARNS OF RELIEF WORK

Steps taken for the relief of the unemployed in Santa Ana and how the unemployed are helping themselves formed the theme for yesterday's meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club. The clubmen were served luncheon at headquarters of the Unemployed association of Santa Ana and proceeds turned over to the organization.

James Smart, chairman of the Citizens Relief committee, was program chairman and arranged details for yesterday's meeting. Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, and secretary of the Citizens committee, was the speaker.

In his talk Dr. Warner forecast an early upturn in business and said that he believes considerable indirect benefit will accrue to Santa Ana through operations of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. This indirect aid, he said, will ultimately relieve conditions locally.

The major problem, however, of extending direct relief to the unemployed of this and other cities in the county is up to the local agencies, the county welfare department and the Citizens' group, he declared and said they are working harmoniously and are achieving results.

Supplies Stored

The commissary, operated by the Citizens Relief committee in co-operation with the Unemployed association, has been at work for some time gathering foodstuffs in preparation for the winter when the present surplus will be exhausted. At present the organization has on hand in a storage warehouse 4166 cans of fruit, in cold storage the organization has; eight tons of cabbage, two tons of squash; two of cucumbers; 58 gallons of sauerkraut; one and one-half tons of potatoes and a ton of celery. This food supply is stored without cost in the various cold storage houses of the city, he said.

That the commissary plan of distribution is successful is proven, he said, by the fact that sales there for the week ending July 30, totaled $274.15 and 3797 people were given relief. Commissary sales for the month totaled $1181.99.

Statistics on Jobs

He told of the growth of the Unemployed association since it

ENFORCEMENT DISCUSSED FOR PEACE OFFICERS

"Lawless Enforcement of the Law," was the subject of an address made last night by Judge Leon R. Yankwich of the Los Angeles county superior court, before members of the Orange County Peace Officers' association, held at the city hall at Seal Bench.

The meeting was the monthly gathering of the organization and was featured by a dinner served by the American Legion auxiliary of that city and by the attendance of many visitors.

In his talk, Judge Yankwich pointed out the rights of police officers in making arrests and the rights of citizens. He forcibly brought out the leeway given officers in making arrests, showing when a warrant was necessary and the arrests that could be made by officers without warrants. The rights of the officers are numerous and the law has favored the police officer," he declared.

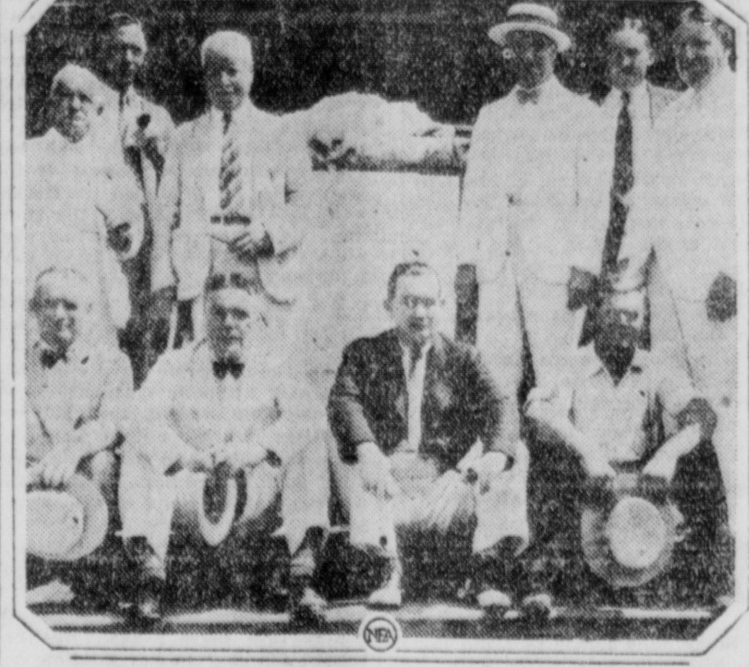

He also stressed the point that it was seldom that an officer had to use force in making an arrest and asked the policeman to remember that because he had been given power that he also assumed an obligation to the constitution, therefore he should not take advantage of his position.

Judge Yankwich discussed the law of search and seizure, the constitutional rights of a prisoner toward self incrimination and entrapment of a citizen. His talk was straightforward and to the point.

The peace officers' organization voted to continue carrying insurance on its members at the rate of $500 per member. The quarterly premium of $323.50 is due at the present time and was ordered paid. There was some discussion as to whether on account of a lack of funds in the treasury, the insurance should be kept up.

FIRST COTTON SOLD

Things were looking brighter down in Georgia when the state's first bale of cotton of the season was received at the Savannah Cotton Exchange and auctioned for 15 cents a pound. The cotton was raised by J. L. Pilcher, of Thomas county. Exchange officials are pictured with the bale before the selling ceremony.

$510,885 SPENT IN COUNTY FOR VETS' HOMES

During the past six months $510,885 has been expended in Orange county by veterans of the World war in the purchase of homes and farms, according to a report by John P. Brennan, chairman of the state veterans' welfare board. These homes all were purchased through loans from the state and being the amount expended in this county during the past 10 years up to $510,885.

According to George M. Stout, secretary of the veterans' welfare board, a total of $55,567,795.47 has been expended in the state in the purchase of 11,248 homes and 446 farms for ex-service men since the first veterans' bond issue 10 years ago.

While the expenditure of this huge sum of money has materially aided California in its fight against the depression, economic conditions have, at the same time, taken on a certain toll.

A recent report of the veterans' board shows that delinquencies in the state as of July 1 amounted to $531,472. Of this amount $384,728 represents the delinquency in home purchase contracts, and the remaining $146,744 is on farms, a drop of $10,000 from the previous month.

A summary of the various districts shows Sacramento with 579 delinquent accounts averaging $98.06 each; San Francisco with 1228 such accounts amounting to $114 each, the report said.

SANTA ANA MAN, OLDEST PAST IMPERIAL POTENTATE, IS HONORED BY SHRINERS

Just 32 years from the time he journeyed to San Francisco, there to receive at the hands of the nobles of the Mystic Shrine the highest honor in their power to bestow, the office of imperial potentate, Colonel Henry C. Akin, 424 South Birch street, Santa Ana, returned to the Golden Gate City to be significantly honored by the Shriners as their oldest living past imperial potentate, not only in actual years but in the time of office.

When "Uncle Henry," as he is affectionately known to Shriners all over the country, returned early this week from the annual Shrine convention held in San Francisco, it was with his heart warmed by the honors accorded him during his visit. San Francisco Shriners as hosts to wearers of the red fez from all points of the compass, entertained "Uncle Henry" as their special guest of honor, sending him a carefully worded invitation long in advance of the actual date of the conclave, and making every plan for his entertainment so that all he had to do was to take the Shrine special train for the north.

Accompanied to Los Angeles by his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Willis and by Otto Haan, president of the Orange County Shrine club, Colonel Akin found that the Imperial Council's plans for his comfort and well being on the trip, included a valet from the Jonathan club who accompanied him on the trip north, and remained at his service during the entire stay. This was appreciated indeed as "Uncle Henry" is swiftly approaching his ninetieth year.

For all the convention events he was given place of honor and accorded special recognition as the oldest living potentate. Met in the north by Ernest B. Heiter (of the Bass-Hunter Paint company) an old friend of many years' standing, who took him to his beautiful country estate where he was guest of honor at an alfresco banquet for 150 guests with a special entertainment program to follow. On a later evening, Mr. Heiter was dinner host at the St. Francis for Shrine officials and past imperial potentates, with "Uncle Henry" as guest of special honor.

Among souvenirs of his stay, Colonel Akin brought home with him a handsome fitted leather traveling kit suitably marked as the gift of the San Francisco temple.

Aside from the various events connected with the conclave the Santa Ana man was entertained one afternoon and evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. "Jimmie" Livesey, formerly of this city.

FEDERAL LABOR SERVICE AIDS WORK SEEKERS

Splendid cooperation has been extended the U. S. Department of Labor Employment Service since opening headquarters in Santa Ana, according to A. J. Norton, who is in charge of the office in the Federal building here. His territory includes all of Orange county and Riverside county.

Speaking of the service represented by himself and of the cooperation extended it by firms and individuals, Norton said:

"The U. S. Employment Service is one of the many activities of the Federal government that is greatly assisting in the relief of unemployment throughout the country. This service fully realizes the importance and need for the proper distribution of labor in the Santa Ana area and is in a position to greatly aid the community in protecting itself from unneeded migrations of transient labor, as well as being in position to direct labor into the district from other sections of the country when such is needed.

"The service is receiving splendid cooperation from many representative groups, firms and individuals; and it is hoped that the people will unhesitatingly patronize the U. S. Employment Service, which is cooperating with the community and for its best interests at all times."

BEACH YACHT CLUB TO SPONSOR RACE

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 4.—An inter-club championship regatta for the skimmer class of yachts will be staged on the ocean course off Newport-Balboa on Saturday and Sunday, September 10 and 11, it was announced today by E. Goodell Sherman, commodore of the Balboa Yacht club.

The Balboa Yacht club will be the host club for the series, and skimmers from that club and from the Alamitos Bay club of Long Beach, the Mission Bay club of San Diego, the Lake Elsinore club and perhaps others will participate. Sherman expects from 20 to 25 skimmers to compete.

There will be one race September 10 and two on September 11. The skimmer class has become popular during the past two or three years, especially among the smaller yacht clubs.

WORK STARTED TODAY ON NEW FOOD MARKET

Work started early today on the construction of a new food market to be erected on the southwest corner of Main and Cuyler streets, which will cost $8000 and which will soon house one of the biggest markets in that section of the city.

The new market building is being erected by Gerrard Brothers, owners of the Alpha Beta and the Gerrard Grocery stores in Santa Ana, but according to the owners will not be directly connected with these stores. It will be known as the Santa Ana Wholesale-Retail Food Market.

The building itself will be constructed of bricks, with a curved roof, and will be built without inside posts, making it a complete open market. The construction will take about two months. The building will be 80x120 feet in size.

The work is to be handled under the direction of Chas. Hurd as construction foreman.

TRADE LABOR FOR FOOD AT COMMISSARY

Hugh Gerrard of the Citizens' Unemployment Emergency committee, who supervises the activities of the commissary being conducted at Tenth and Main streets said today that an average of nearly 200 families are served daily. A total of 500 families was assisted during July for a total outlay of less than $1500.

"In this connection it may not be generally understood how this relief is handled," he added.

"Nothing is given out right up on the application. The understanding is that the applicant agrees to pay for the relief received when and if able to do so and many work for the association more or less time each month which frequently covers the amount of aid given.

"Large quantities of fruit were gathered in July and put up in cans for future use and the labor credited to those employed during the month amounted to $72.20."

Gerrard personally passes upon every purchase made for the commissary which insures a balanced supply. He said today he is greatly pleased with the supervision of the commissary by Frank Valdez, who has it in charge.

FORMER IOWANS TO HOLD PICNIC SOON

Hundreds of thousands of Iowans who have selected California as their home look forward each year to the great reunions held under the trees in some park.

The summer picnic is held in Hik-yark, Long Beach, and this year it will be Saturday, August 13. President Henry W. Wright and his active committeemen will have every detail perfected and will plan to care for more than 100,000 Hawkees from all over the western states. A splendid feature each year is the College Hour from 3 to 4 p. m., when all the college and university groups rally around their headquarters. The program is always brief and includes music and oratory.

Among those on the program will be Lieut. Gov. Frank F. Merriam, Congressman Joe Crall, William Roy Litzberg, Charles B. Hamilton and H. A. Murray. Many noted Iowans will be introduced. The "Golden Wedding Pageant" is expected to attract some 200 couples who have been married 50 years or more and one or both have lived in Iowa. Following their basket picnic dinner together they will march to reserved seats on the platform and have a special address and music. John G. Spielman of Long Beach will be in charge of the Golden Wedding event. C. H. Parsons, Hotel Alexandria, Los Angeles, will give further information desired by Iowans.

EPWORTH LEAGUE IN FELLOWSHIP MEET

COSTA MESA, Aug. 4.—An Epworth league fellowship meeting was held Tuesday evening at the parsonage with 20 leaguers present.

The pastor, the Rev. W. I. Lowe, gave a short talk on "Heroism," which was followed by a lively discussion.

Games and various stunts were played for an hour and refreshments were served to the following: Ed Kidd, William Bremer, Helen Willcutt, Thelma Allen, Golda Allen, Edith Grebe, Bob Fuller, Harold Long, John Willcutt, Dale McAlary, Ethel Kinley, Lawrence Wright, John Bailey, Malcolm Reid, Alice Mellott, Florence Wason, Miss M. # DIVORCE SOUGHT BY MESA BUSINESS MAN

Declaring his wife insisted on attending dances without him and over his protest and when he objected told him that if he did not like it she would go and live alone, Robert S. Erbe, Costa Mesa, garageman, has filed suit for divorce from Mrs. Lillian B. Erbe.

In his complaint the husband alleges that he and his wife were married in Ipswich, South Dakota, March 20, 1916, and separated January 3, 1931. During the later years of their married life, he alleges, his wife insisted on attending dances alone.

On the night of December 29, he asserted, she left home with another woman without telling him where she was going. She returned at 3:30 o'clock the next morning and when he asked where she had been said that it was none of his business. From that date until she left home January 3 she refused to speak to him, he said.

Dry Organizations Endorse Kline In Race for Congress

Endorsements of the candidacy of Chester Kline, of San Jacinto, for Congress are continuing to come in from various dry organizations as well as other groups throughout the district, according to Kline's friends.

Some of the dry organizations which have endorsed Kline include the following boards of strategy: Southern California, Redlands, Ontario, San Bernardino, San Bernardino county, Riverside, Riverside county and Hemet.

Kline, who is speaker pro tempore of the California legislature, is a lifelong Republican.

Word of the endorsement of his candidacy by the Southern California board of strategy came from S. T. Montgomery, secretary, and carried a pledge to use the influence of the board to the utmost for Kline's election.

Ranchers Ship 39 Carloads of Beets

WINTERSBURG, Aug. 4.—Thirty-nine car loads of sugar beets, approximately 40 tons to the car, have gone in to the factory from the American dump, the only one open at Wintersburg this season, in the two weeks since the season opened.

Sugar content reports continue extra good, averaging 16 per cent, with a good many lots going above that figure. William Slater, Joe Sork and Earl Gardner are among ranchers who began their harvest this week while the Callens Bros., Charles Houser, Maurice Price continue on their crops which will, probably finish this week.

Picnics and Reunions

Former residents of Lexington, Missouri, are being notified that the annual picnic will be held in Irvine park, Sunday, August 7. A basket dinner will be shared by those present.

POLITICIANS ASKED TO ADDRESS LEAGUE

FULLERTON, Aug. 4.—To gain information from candidates for election for the national, state and district offices, and particularly information as to the stand those officers would take regarding fish and game protection, members of Fullerton chapter, Isaac Walton league, have issued invitations to the meeting at their cabin in Hillcrest park August 10.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY- THE HOME WEDDINGS CLUBS FASHIONS FRATERNAL HOUSEHOLD

Pretty Shower Comes As Surprise to Bride-elect

As Miss Cathryn Lacy and Frank Wurster have selected "some time in August" as their wedding date, these late summer days have been especially busy for the bride-elect, whose showers have included a charming affair given last night when Mrs. Virgil Reed entertained in her apartment on Lacy street. Mrs. Reed is a sister to Mr. Wurster.

The guests' enjoyment of the party was heightened by the fact that details of the affair were successfully carried out as a surprise to Miss Lacy. Early in the evening, card tables were placed for play, and bridge was enjoyed. Fortunate in winning the attractive prize awards were Mrs. Louise McCain and Mrs. Francis Johnson, who held high and low scores. The honoree's share in the gifts included a pretty array of miscellaneous articles from the assembled group.

In decorating her home for the occasion, Mrs. Reed used bouquets of pink and blue larkspur combined with breath of heaven, and a larger basket of yellow gladioluses, as well. Suggestive of the approaching marriage of the young people were the snowy white wedding bells suspended from the archway.

Tables were spread with embroidered linens for the serving of an appetizing menu. Mrs. Benjamin Herick assisted Mrs. Wurster in hostess duties at this time. The two are sisters.

Those in the group included Miss Lacy, the honoree, Mrs. Fred Wurster, mother of Frank Wurster, and Mesdames Francis Johnson, Carl Lacy, Benjamin Herick, Louise McCain, William McCain, Harold Reed, Leo Minnich, William Fitcher and the Misses Norma Wilson, Mildred Reed, Grace Wurster, Elsie Siemen, Helen Oertson, Katherine Overton and the hostesses, Mrs. Virgil Reed.

Calumpit Organization Plans Events for Near Future

Plans for several events to be held in the near future were made Tuesday evening at the meeting of Calumpit auxiliary held in the Knights of Columbus hall. All but three officers were in attendance.

Following the business session, the camp and auxiliary joined in a celebration of the 10th anniversary of their organization. Past presidents and officers of the auxiliary were in charge of the program and refreshments served following.

Announcement was made that the next meeting of Calumpit Auxiliary Sewing circle will be held Wednesday, August 10, at Anaheim park. Mrs. Bessie Fitzpatrick is chairman of the affair, which is to be an all-day session with a covered-dish luncheon at noon.

The Citrus Belt picnic is to be held at Sawtelle August 14. The meeting is to last throughout the day and evening. Members of the Santa Ana camp and auxiliary are to take part in the program at this time, and a large representation from this city is expected to be in attendance.

The local camp and auxiliary are to have a covered-dish dinner Tuesday evening, August 23, at 6:30 o'clock at Anaheim park. Mrs. Rena Wheeler is chairman of the committee in charge.

Guest From "Dixie" is Incentive for Merry Social Gathering

Honoring Mrs. C. H. Dameron of Port Allen, Louisiana, historic spot on the banks of the Mississippi, Mrs. Mary S. Rowley charmingly entertained old friends on Tuesday afternoon in her home at Tenth and Bush streets.

As an echo of a recent automobile trip taken through beauty spots of California by the honor guest, her two sisters, Mrs. Flora Heninger and Mrs. G. A. Nicholson, Mrs. William Hehner and Mrs. Rowley as "chief punster," a snapshot of Mrs. Dameron accompanied by a Sequoia bear was given to each guest. The travel motif was further carried out when the hostess distributed a tray of mysterious looking gifts to the visitors. Each package was found to contain some article useful in traveling, especially by automobile.

The opening of the packages was provocative of much merriment, because of the startling nature of the contents. There were beautifiers from lipstick to pink nail polish, and one guest even received a tiny can of powder for holding false teeth in place.

There were no slow minutes at this gathering, for in addition to the fact that all present were friends of long standing, Mrs. Rowley showed her usual ability as an ingenious hostess. Refreshments were served on beautifully decorated tables, the hostess being assisted by her daughter, Mrs. John Sauers of Tustin.

The guests, most of whom have gathered to welcome Mrs. Dameron on previous visits to California, included Mrs. Heninger, Mrs. Nicholson and Mrs. Hehner, all of Los Angeles; Mrs. Myrtle Brown, Mrs. Cynthia Davis, Mrs. Ella Parker, Mrs. Mary Gail, Mrs. Lewis Gail, Mrs. L. N. Mater, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Sauers of Tustin and the honoree, Mrs. Dameron.

At the leaving taking the latter invited all the friends to visit at her plantation where she would treat them to fried chicken, beaten biscuits—"beat them yourself"—mocking birds, moonlight, Southern larks and mosquitoes.

Hostess Trio Gives Shower for Bride

In complimenting Mrs. Lenham Wells, a bride of the summer, Miss Ethel Coffman, Mrs. Dan Wellington and Mrs. James Hughes joined in entertaining with a charming affair recently in the latter's home, 1519 North Broadway. Mrs. Wells was formerly Miss Dorothy Hurd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hurd of this city.

Flowers in orchid and yellow were used in brightening the rooms for the evening affair. Games were enjoyed, with the result that Miss Esther Coffman, Mrs. Heustis Snow and Miss Pearl Kimball won the prize awards. The honoree then was presented with a large basket filled with miscellaneous gifts.

The enjoyable affair was brought to a close with the serving of a delicious two-course menu. Those sharing the hospitality of the hostess trio, Mrs. Wellington, Miss Coffman and Mrs. Hughes, were Mrs. Wells, the honoree, and Mrs. Heustis Snow, Mrs. Edward Burns, Mrs. Charles Hurd, Mrs. Fred Hurd, Mrs. William R. Crawford, Mrs. George Broomell, Miss Pearl Kimball, Miss Esther Coffman, Miss Lillian Fitz, Miss Frances Dunstan, Miss Frances Knudson, Miss Irene Blower, Miss Fay Bortz, Mrs. Richard Howland, Miss Venna Goodwin, Miss Marjorie Lusk, Miss Ruth Oakes of this city and Mrs. Ray King of Corona.

Sister Hostesses Join In Greeting Harmony Bridge Club

These early Orange county builders who put up the beautiful old home on Newport road now owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Elton R. Roehm, must have foreseen that its spacious rooms, with their high ceilings and wide windows, would be used for just such pleasant events as that of Tuesday, when Mrs. Roehm and her sister, Mrs. William R. Sylvester, welcomed to the former's home, the members of Harmony Bridge club.

It seemed an ideal spot on a warm mid-summer day, and the cool interior of the home provided a haven for the guests, arriving in a blaze of California sunshine. The sister hostesses had small tables arranged attractively for their dainty luncheon menu, centering each table with flowers and using linens in the same lovely flower colors.

Later in the afternoon when luncheon linens were removed, the tables did double duty for bridge. In the contest Mrs. Raymond L. Spangh took first prize, Mrs. Lloyd Folber, second and Mrs. Nellie Young, third.

Those sharing the hospitality of Mrs. Sylvester and Mrs. Roehm were Mesdames H. H. Dimmitt, Larry Golden, E. E. Vanaken, Augusta Whisenand, Lloyd Polger, George Shippe, Glenn Lycan, Henry Puskey, Sam Jernigan, Henry Meyers, Ray Spangh, William J. Dean, H. T. Poust, Ben Baker, Walter Wright, Hugh Henry, C. L. At the next meeting of Harmony Bridge club on Tuesday, August 16, Mrs. George Shippe and Mrs. William J. Dean will be co-hostesses and will precede the afternoon's games with a luncheon in the Masonic temple.

Olympic Theme Used In Dinner Party Appointments

Suggestive of the Olympic Games now in session were decorative details of an enjoyable dinner party given Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Worth Alexander entertained members of their bridge club. They gave the affair on the grounds of their home, Newport road, Tustin.

Shaded by trees, the long table arranged for serving the dinner offered an inviting scene. Blue asters, red dahlias and cosmos from the gardens of the Earl McBay and James Alexander homes were the flowers used in carrying out the Olympic motif. Placecards depicted hurdlers, javelin throwers and other athletes in action. The table was spread with white linen and appointed with Olympic blue dollies. Mrs. Harold Smith, Mrs. Thomas Smith and Mrs. Orlo Householder assisted in hostess duties at this time.

For the bridge games which followed, the group reassembled in the home. Clever little Olympic tallies were checked to reveal that Mrs. Kenneth King, Mrs. Thomas Smith and Mrs. Marcus Lassiter scored first and second high and low in the card games. Men's prizes were won by Harold Smith and Thomas Smith, first and second high scorers, and Earl McBay, low.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Thomas Tournat, Marcus Lassiter, Erna Burns, Orlo Householder, Kenneth King, Thomas Smith, Harold Smith, Earl McBay and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Finley of Inglewood and Mr. and Mrs. A. Nelson of Midway City.

Mrs. Herbert Hill and little son, Herbert Jr., of Whittier, were joined in this city and were joined by Mr. Hill for dinner last evening in the home of Mrs. Hill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hales, 1807 North Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill were in Long Beach recently attending the national convention of Phi Sigma, and brought honors to Southern California in the election of Mr. Hill to the office of supreme councillor. He was installed in the high office at a banquet held at the Breakers hotel, headquarters for the convocation. While they were in Long Beach, their little son was a guest in the Hales' home.

The young people are former residents of Santa Ana but have lived in Whittier for the past several months.

The three went first to Arrowhead where they remained for a week or ten days, and their second journey was to the Yosemite.

They went into Tuolumne Meadows where they camped for over a week and enjoyed fishing and hiking. The weather was ideal with warm days and snappy, cool nights. Four inches of snow had fallen just before their arrival.

The party then came down into the Yosemite valley for a visit before returning home by way of Merced. The trip into the Meadows and the park had been by way of the Mojave and Tioga Pass.

Mrs. Webber stated that there was more water there this year than at any time in the past 20 years.

Howard Hales, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hales, 1807 North Main street, is confined to Santa Ana Valley hospital with an infected hand. He is reported as making a nice recovery.

Fifty-Fifty Club Men Issue Invitations To Summer Ball

Invitations have been issued by the Fifty Fifty club of Southern California, to many friends to join in a gala affair on Saturday, August 20, in the San Clemente Golf clubhouse in the Spanish village, where a dance will be enjoyed.

Fifty Fifty club members, whose social program is a formal one through the winter months, have lapsed all formality in their summer festivities, and made practically all of them center around some popular beach resort. But this late August party will be the first of the season to which non-members have been invited. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock, and the club has secured Joe Lindbergh's Coconut Grove orchestra of eight pieces for the music.

J. Riley Huber will be master of ceremonies, and the ball committee will be composed of Messrs. Hal Traver, Lawrence Mitchell, Tony Traver and Clyde Martin.

Many of the club members and their guests are planning to extend their stay in the Spanish village to include Sunday gayeties as well, and the Hotel San Clemente has quoted special rates for the occasion. Sunday will be distinguished by a varied program of horseback riding, swimming and golf. Hotel reservations must be made in advance by telephoning San Clemente 431.

Mayflower Club Has Luncheon Meeting In Anaheim

Mayflower club members held an enjoyable meeting Tuesday afternoon at Anaheim park, where Mrs. R. C. Butler, Mrs. Charles Bollen and Mrs. Clarence Arnold joined in entertaining.

A covered-dish luncheon was served at mid-day. Much in evidence on the long table arranged under the shading trees, were two large birthday cakes in honor of Mrs. Butler's birthday anniversary. These had been provided by Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. E. E. Frisby.

During the afternoon, some of the members played bridge and others sewed. Children in the group enjoyed a dip in the plunge. Those present were Mrs. A. C. Wiebe, Mrs. J. W. Parkinson and daughter Peggy, Mrs. V. C. Shilder and daughters, Betty and Jacqueline, Mrs. Edward Cochems, Mrs. Emma Kellogg, Mrs. J. D. Sanborn, Mrs. P. T. Isherwood, Mrs. S. F. An afternoon filled with overflowing with games and contests of typically "party" nature was shared recently by a group of friends of little Betty Jean Holman, who took part in the celebration of her sixth birthday anniversary. Mrs. H. G. Holman entertained for her small daughter, giving the affair in their home, 305 South Sycamore street.

Guests arrived at the party setting to find grounds and rooms of the home made invitingly festive for the occasion. The charms of the outdoors included a fountain, whose interesting contents were shared by all the children. Peeping from shrubbery and greenery were colored paper nuts which were opened to reveal paper dolls for the successful searchers. Guests spent some of the time playing with balls which were presented by the hostess as party favors.

Adjoining indoors, the children found a game of special interest awaiting them. They were given colorful Japanese flowers which to their delight, opened into full bloom when placed in water. The Oriental motif was further observed in Japanese lanterns arranged for lighting the scene.

Children were escorted to the dining room where table appointments were carried out in pink and white. Cradle nut cups, china doll favors, paper doll placecards and party napkins marked each place. A birthday cake decorated in pink and white centered the table, and was served with ice-cream and other dainties, including cookies frosted in pink and topped with upright animal crackers.

Boys who had been invited to the party arrived just at the refreshment hour, for they had been taken to the matinee as their share of the afternoon's festivities.

POLITICS TO BE FEATURED ON BROADCAST

Two political talks are scheduled for KREG tonight. One of them will present Joe Crall, candidate for U. S. Senator and the other will present local candidates for public office. These talks will be preceded by a delightful program featuring the Axworthy Trio. Because of the political talks on the schedule, the Axworthy Trio will go on the air at 7:45 p. m. instead of 8 o'clock, their usual time. Crall's talk will be a re-broadcast from another Southern California station.

PAUL WHITEMAN ON CLASSIC PROGRAM

Paul Whiteman and his famous concert orchestra will be featured tonight over KREG during the Musical Masterpieces program. The typical modernistic arrangements by this "King of Jazz," included in tonight's program are anything but trivial "jazz" numbers. All numbers to be presented on this program are noted for their excellence and are recognized as being among the best of present day compositions of this kind. They include Ferde Grofe's famous "Three Shades of Blue," "Together," by DeSylva-Brown-Henderson; "Among My Souvenirs," and other typical selections. At 8:45 Jerry Hall, vocalist, with Aaron Gonzalez at the piano will present a program of popular and original compositions by Hall. This program is sponsored by Hall who is a local tire dealer.

CRALL INAUGURATES RADIO CAMPAIGN

Problems of the nation will be discussed over the air by Congressman Joe Crall, candidate for the nomination for United States senator from California, starting this evening at 8:15 o'clock over the Columbia-Don Lee broadcast. The chain, and every Tuesday and Thursday evening thereafter at the same time. Congressman Crall will carry on these 15 minute messages to the citizens until the primary elections, August 30. Because of the vast length and breadth of California, Joe Crall has found it impossible to make the necessary number of addresses in person at the Golden State's many communities, outlining his principles, and for this reason has arranged for series of radio discussions. The late session of Congress also kept Crall busy in Washington well into the summer.

How One Woman Lost 47 Lbs. of Fat In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds. I was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides. Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I feel that only the Kruschen Salts have done it. I feel better, but I look better, so all my friends say, 'I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it to all great good that is in it.' Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. C. 'P. S. You may think I am writing a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough.' A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but a few cents. When reducing attention to diet will help—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. To take off fat harmlessly and safely, take one half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning—don't worry—it's the safe way to reduce. But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at McCoy Drug Co.—2 stores—or any drug store in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you, do not joyfully satisfy you—why money back—Adv.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Recipe For Making Pickles

Away early last spring I ate the grandest pickles ever concocted! I got the recipe, of course, and kept it on tap until I thought you women might be ready to make pickles. This is a sweet spicy pickle.

Tumeric Pickles
12 slicing cucumbers
6 onions, boiling size
1 cup salt

Pickling Mixture

2 cups vinegar
1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon celery seed
2 tablespoons mustard seed
1 tablespoon tumeric powder

Peel and slice onions and cucumbers thin, sprinkle with salt and let stand two hours, then drain them and rinse quickly under a running tap. Boil the pickling mixture together, first blending the tumeric powder with the two sugars, adding the vinegar by degrees until the tumeric is dissolved. Add the balance of spices, bring to a rapid boil, put in the sliced vegetables and boil about one-half hour. Bottle in pint jars.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Fried Summer Squash

3 small crook-neck squash
1/2 cup milk
1 small cup flour
1 teaspoon each, salt and pepper
Butter and bacon fat for frying
Hot cheese sauce for garnishing

At least once a week during summer vegetable plate dinner should be served; to have it palatable one of the vegetables must have body; this fried squash with the hot cheese sauce fills that place to perfection.

The squash must be young and small, not over four inches long. They are small enough not to have tough seeds and the whole squash can be used. Zucchini, the little green Italian squash are splendid for this dish if summer squash are not available. Zucchini are never peeled.

Peel the crook-necks and cut in long slices less than half an inch thick. Dip the slices in milk, then coat in seasoned flour and then coat in hot fat until tender and light brown in color. Arrange on a hot platter, mask with yesterday's hot cheese sauce and sprinkle top with minced parsley.

In case you've forgotten how to make that cheese sauce here is the way: Make 2 cups of thick cream sauce, using cornstarch to thicken it. Cook the sauce 10 minutes, then stir in 1 large cupful of grated cheese, a little dry mustard, pepper and salt.

When cheese is well melted whip in a cupful of thick mayonnaise, take off the fire and whip in sufficient lemon juice to make it as tart as you wish. Beat HARD the sauce before pouring it over the squash.

Now for the calories in the squash: Squash does not mean much, calorically speaking, the real calories lie in the flour and butter used in cooking them. A safe estimate for each of the six portions would be 150 energy calories. Cheese sauce would be extra and run to another 150 calories, the kind the body uses to repair and build tissue.

A balanced diet is rather difficult to attain when you are planning a party luncheon, but a rather decent one will be found in the current leaflet, AN IDEAL SUMMER LUNCHEON. This leaflet may be had free of charge this week if you will enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope when you write for it.

Friday's recipe will be Tomato Aspic Salad.

ANN MEREDITH.

"SHE'S NO LADY"—

James Gleason, George Bancroft and Wynne Gibson in a scene from "Lady and Gent," which has its opening at the Fox Broadway theater today and which plays there for the remainder of the week.

BANCROFT OPENS AT BROADWAY TODAY

George Bancroft has the type of role which George Bancroft can fill best in "Lady and Gent," a Paramount picture, which opens today at the Fox Broadway theater.

It's an amusing story, this "Lady and Gent," and yet it has a bit of pathos, a bit of genuine romance to it. With the support of a cast headed by Wynne Gibson, Charles Starrett and James Gleason, Bancroft makes it a picture certainly worth seeing.

Bancroft is cast as a two-fisted "gent" from the area rather dimly lighted by the reflected glare from Broadway. Miss Gibson is his "gal"—a sharp-tongued vixen, who despairs of Bancroft but sticks with him anyhow.

The picture moves into its stride when these two are suddenly called upon to assume the responsibilities of parenthood for a clever 12-year-old, son of a dead friend. Bancroft discovers he likes it, but is ashamed to admit the fact to Miss Gibson, who has arrived at the same conclusion, and feels the same way about the situation.

Ultimately they reach an understanding, and help the boy, now matured and very much in love, to find happiness for himself.

WEST COAST GETS "TOM BROWN" FILM

One of this season's most unusual pictures comes to the Fox

West Coast theater Friday and Saturday. It is "Tom Brown of Culver," with a cast composed entirely of men. The only women are entirely incidental to this story of the building of young manhood.

But "heart interest" is not lacking in this remarkable picture. The story is filled with situations which represent the utmost in emotional power.

The major portion of "Tom Brown of Culver" was actually filmed at the Culver Military Academy in Indiana, with all the color of this great military school, and the famous "Black Horse Troop" in action.

The exceptional cast is headed by Tom Brown, H. B. Warner and Slim Summerville, and also includes Andy Devine, Ben Alexander, Richard Cromwell, Russell Hopton, Sidney Toler, Willard Robertson and a host of other screen favorites. It was directed by William Wyler.

HORROR FILM ENDS ENGAGEMENT HERE

Tonight marks the close of the run of Edgar Allan Poe's "Murders in the Rue Morgue," at Walker's State theater, and signals the departure of the most sensational picture shown in Santa Ana this season.

The cast of this remarkable screen play is headed by Bela Lugosi, who played the title role in "Dracula," and Sidney Fox. "Murders in the Rue Morgue" details the exciting adventures of a half-demented doctor, a resident of Paris, obsessed with the idea of crossing the blood of his gigantic gorilla with that of a living girl. The climax of the startling story, it is said, is one calculated to bring shrieks of horror from an audience.

THE TINYMIES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

It was a funny sight to see. The Tinties, proud as they could be, were riding on the animals that they had blown up high.

"My fine balloons are very strong," their fat friend said. "See? Naught goes wrong! I make balloons that every youngster's mighty glad to buy."

"Well, I'll buy this one," Duncy cried. "It's really lots of fun to ride upon the back of a giraffe. The long neck's handy, too."

"If he begins to run with me I'll be as safe as safe can be," cause I'll just grab him 'round the neck. That would be smart to do."

"I think my pig is better still," said Copsy. "It gives me a thrill to bounce along and bob around. My seat's a comfy one."

"I'm glad there are no fences here. The pig would run through one, I fear. Then I would be brushed off its back. That wouldn't be much fun."

Then Windy spoke up. "Look at me! I am the highest one," said he. "This elephant moves rather slow, but I am satisfied."

"His back is broad and, on this trip, I have no fear that I will slip. The beast knows how to walk so it will be a gentle ride."

"Course Scouty had heard all the rest. He suddenly said, 'I'm the best! This cow must be a wild one, 'cause it's frisky as can be.'"

"If I don't hang on good and tight, I fear 'twill toss me out of sight. Now, wouldn't it be funny if I'd land up in a tree?"

And then he cried, "Whoa, bossy! Whoa! Where do you think you're going to go?" He grabbed the cow right by the horns and snapped, "Don't run like that."

One of the cow's sides ripped a bit and lots of air came out of it. In just about a moment Scouty's cow had fallen flat.

Equity Jurisprudence is the

A famous picture painted by the artist Raphael was the Sixteen Madonna.

The reason why he was king

The old man was blind while the little boy was bright although

$100,000,000 for Vacation Camps

Not very expert, but having lots of fun. . . . A typical group of city youngsters enjoying the delights of the "old swimming hole"

By EDNA ROBB WEBSTER

AMERICA believes in its youth. There is no more significant proof of this than the one hundred million dollars that American parents invest annually in vacation camps for American boys and girls.

During excessive prosperity values become confused, and money is spent freely with disregard for relative returns. But when the supply of money is diminished, folk become more discriminating with its use, and only investments are made which pay real dividends.

The past two years have seen no reduction in expenditures for vacation camps. A nation that dares to snap its fingers at declining stocks and reduced incomes and invest one hundred million dollars in educational recreation in two months for its youth, apparently is pretty well "sold" on the vacation camp idea.

The summer vacation camp is the greatest development of the "back to nature" movement. Of those first pioneer camps which are still operating, one was established in 1885, another in 1886, a third in 1887, a fourth in 1893 and a fifth in 1898.

With the beginning of the 20th century, however, the summer camp gained rapidly in popularity. Regarding this increase, Dr. Eugene H. Lehman, editor-in-chief of "Camps and Camping," and director of the Highland Nature Camps, observes:

"THE floodtide was reached during the period immediately subsequent to the World War, and that fact may in itself convey a meaning deserving of something more than a moment's notice.

"To be sure, everyone abhors a national appeal to arms, and possibly all the good that issues from such a devastating conflict can be secured by more peaceful methods; yet nevertheless, if we are to face reality fearlessly—as the psychiatrists bid us do—then we ask whether there may not be some truth at least in the assertions of the war lords that it is only through strife that mankind advances.

"It was the Civil War that suggested the camping idea to the founder of the movement; it was immediately after the Spanish War that camps spread most rapidly in New England; it was directly subsequent to the World War that they covered the entire land."

The movement seems to have reached its saturation point with the peak of prosperity, for the number of new camps gradually decreased each year after 1924, with the exception of the year 1927 when, as economic graphs show, there was a brief, new zenith of prosperity. In 1924, there were registered 37 new camps, 30 in 1925, 22 in 1926, 33 in 1927, 12 in 1928 and 11 in 1929. Even today, the development is still on the upward trend, if somewhat slower.

IN the organization known as the Girl Scouts, the registration of members on Nov. 30, 1931, showed an increase of 28,720 new members for the first 11 months of 1931. It was estimated that the active membership of this organization would approach 300,000 by the end of the year.

There are now more than 500 Girl Scout camps, of which the majority are permanent. Last summer 50,000 Girl Scouts enjoyed part or all of their vacation time living, working and playing out of doors.

The cost of camping per Girl Scout varies throughout the country, but the average cost based on 1931 statistics is about $7.40 a week. Allowing each camper only one-half her vacation time, this would total $1,500,000. Full time for 50,000 girls would cost $3,000,000.

Of the total Boy Scout membership of 1,266,663 in 1931, there were 125,566 who lived in summer camps for long or short periods, at an average weekly cost of $7.22. These boys were accommodated by 561 stationary camps, many of which sites are owned by the implies hardihood and adventure, but without discomfort and reckless exposure.

Like the pioneers of the past, the trained and experienced camper does not expose himself except under forced conditions. His law is one of self-preservation, protection and such comfort as he can obtain with the facilities of nature at hand.

A DECIDED change of objective has developed in the summer camp idea, however. As Dr. Hedley S. Dimock of the Y. M. C. A. College, Chicago, says, there is developing a shift in emphasis from a recreational to an educational function for the summer camp.

The summer camp is not a case of a definite separation between "school" and "life," as the academic school too often is, but the definite merging of the two, the actual application of knowledge to life.

This living education is amazingly varied, either directly or incidentally. It embraces such an array of subjects as no school would venture to list on its curriculum. A few of them are: health, nutrition, first aid, neatness, cleanliness, personality, amiability, etiquette, art, music, dramatics through participation, religion, conversation, leadership, woodcraft, various "ologies," all primitive sports, etc.

There are scores of incidentals concealed within all these generalities. This getting back to nature teaches the child many lessons.

There is still another advantage which has so far been recognized by very few camp leaders. That is the learning of geography by camp travel.

THE East Cleveland (Ohio) Y. M. C. A. was a pioneer in this experiment which has proved a huge success and the only one thus far to make of it a large undertaking. For the third consecutive year, they are taking 20 boys on an extensive camping tour that is as thoroughly organized and specialized as any permanent camp could be.

And these young American adventurers are seeing America first, by primitive methods. Of course, they do not travel in a covered wagon drawn by oxen, because that would require too much precious time in this age of speed.

They travel in a motor bus, but as pioneer boys would have traveled: dressed to rough it, camping at night, swimming, horseback riding, exploring trails, side trips to points of scenic and historic interest, stops for sports and games, observing all the camp ethics of safety, wholesome food, health and good-fellowship.

In 1930, such a group toured from Cleveland to Yellowstone National Park; in 1931, they went to Timagami, 300 miles north of Toronto; in 1932, their goal is the Olympic Games in Los Angeles.

organization, comprising some 55,526 acres valued at $4,447,473.27.

These figures cover council training camps only. There are, in addition to these, numerous troop and patrol camps, touring parties and gypsy trips, canoe trips, mountaineering trips, Eagle Scout trail building camps, winter camps, exposition camps, Sea Scout cruises and Lone Scout camping expeditions.

More than 1200 organized private camps enroll 150,000 boys and girls annually. The fees in private camps increase with the age of the camp, generally, due to its established popularity. The highest fees recorded for a season during the years 1920-24 were about $700, the lowest $150. The average private camp fee is $300.

THERE are more camps for boys, both public and private, than for girls; and the average size of girls' camps is smaller than boys'. There is also a tendency of all private camps to decrease in size.

In 1930, there were 18,831 private camps for boys and 14,814 for girls. In the same year there were 44,755 public camps for boys and 9496 for girls. The total number of all kinds and sizes of camps in 1930 was 87,896, more than double the number in 1922, which was 43,139.

The maintenance of these camps provides vacation happiness and constructive education for more than a million boys and girls. They are supplanting the farm activities and outdoor life of former days.

Camping is a primitive mode of living with limited equipment; it is living on the move with temporary shelter. Camping suggests simplicity, ingenuity, originality, resourcefulness. It

Part Of The Register's Platform

1. FOR THE IMPARTIAL AND RIGID ENFORCEMENT OF LAW.
2. FOR SOME FORM OF FEDERAL RELIEF OF THE UNEMPLOYED, EITHER BY APPROPRIATIONS FOR PUBLIC WORKS OR UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.
3. FOR REDUCTION IN GOVERNMENTAL EXPENDITURES, CITY, COUNTY, STATE AND NATION.
4. AGAINST THE FEW USING THE TREASURY OF THE GOVERNMENT TO ENRICH THEMSELVES, AT THE EXPENSE OF THE REST OF THE TAXPAYERS.
5. AGAINST "MACHINE" POLITICS, OR THE ELECTION OF CANDIDATES FOR ANY OFFICE, WHO CARRY ON THE PUBLIC WORK IN SECRET, AND THUS HELP THE PRIVILEGED FEW AT THE EXPENSE OF THE REST OF THE PEOPLE.
6. OPPOSED TO THE GIVING OF TAXPAYERS' FUNDS TO PRIVATE ORGANIZATIONS. THIS WE WOULD MAINTAIN AT LEAST UNTIL WE HAVE MORE MONEY IN OUR GOVERNMENT TREASURY THAN WE CAN INTELLIGENTLY USE DIRECTLY FOR GOVERNMENTAL FUNCTIONS.
7. OPPOSED TO ANY LUXURIES BEING PURCHASED OUT OF TAXPAYERS' FUNDS, AS LONG AS THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE ARE LANGUISHING FOR THE NECESSITIES OF LIFE.
8. IN FAVOR OF IMMEDIATE LEGAL PROTEST AGAINST THE SPREADING OF ORANGE COUNTY'S WATER IN RIVERSIDE AND SAN BERNARDINO COUNTIES.

THE ACTION SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

Have you noticed the criticism that has been directed against The Register and its editor in many of the political organs this last week?

Our attention has been called to some of it, and really it causes a satisfaction, almost a chuckling. We are chuckling because of so many evidences that the things The Register is standing for are succeeding. It is the screeching caused by the growing pains of the people's movement. It is a clear indication that The Register's program is getting under the rhinoceros epidermis of the group which has been specifically benefitting by the misuse of tax funds.

The Associated Chambers of Commerce, mainly made up of political groups from various communities, criticized The Register, but they received a report from their tax committee which declared that the committee was opposed to the use of taxpayers' money for anything else than the "public functions of government." This is a marked achievement, due to the campaign of The Register. As long as what we are fostering is being aided, we can stand the personal criticism.

The Board of Supervisors may attack The Register harshly, but the pressure of public sentiment has forced the cities' representatives to all come before the Supervisors and demand a share of the gas tax, for which The Register has been fighting.

The Register has been condemned for its contest to have incomes of public officials cut somewhat in proportion to the income of the taxpayer. But now we see this same group actually criticizing the school boards for not cutting more than 10 per cent in the salaries, declaring it should have been 20 per cent instead of 10 per cent.

Months ago we took the position against spreading water in the Upper Santa Ana. This was immediately following Engineer Elliott's report. We circulated this throughout the county. Finally the Board of Supervisors voted by a vote of four to one, against such further spreading. And the Santa Ana city council requested their attorney to take such legal steps as are necessary to protect their interest. Of course the Supervisors hated to act, but the lateral pressure of public sentiment forced them to it. We can stand the personal animosity, if the public interest is furthered.

We are glad to know that the people are interested in their own welfare; that we are assured that some of the gas tax money is to be returned to the cities. Even Mr. Schumacher, who has been so successful in preventing the gas tax money being given to his own cities, but using it for his own election, and satisfying the cities by alibis, is made to appear, through his personal organs in the cities, as doing just the opposite. They speak as though he had gotten a great amount of money for Anaheim and Fullerton. The truth, of course, is otherwise. But the fact that they have to make it appear this way, in order to deceive the people, and get their votes, is evidence of progress.

In fairness to the men who have opposed us in all of these positions, even to those who have been most bitter in their remarks, we want to congratulate them that they have been big enough to change their position on public matters. We are sorry, of course, that they are small enough to harbor resentment even after they are converted, but this we must expect from people, who are converted against their will, who are really driven into a position to get votes rather than convinced on the merits of the case, and taking their stand for the principle. Criticism, however, delivered in error, never lives and does little damage permanently. A great deal of it is amusing. It gives us the measure of men.

Yes, we are getting a great deal out of life. It is causing chuckles. We can say there is joy in watching ideas grow. The newspaper work is a great work. The clash of opinions and the constant struggle between the selfish interests, that would take advantage of power, and the rights of the common man, makes life worth while. It is a great joy to carry on.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT'S DECISION

Governor Roosevelt has before him all of the evidence in respect to the money received by Mayor Jimmy Walker from various people and the connection of that money with special interests. For a long time, Judge Seabury has been making this investigation, and he has made it most thoroughly. He has accumulated through the trials a mass of evidence, and this evidence has become public property. The defense of Walker has been put in, and Judge Seabury's answer thereto.

The admissions which Mr. Walker himself made are so vicious as to evidence his entire unfitness to be the Chief Executive of any city, in our judgment. One cannot help being almost sorry for any man, the candidate for president on a major party ticket, who has presented to him a situation where he must decide upon such a case as this.

It is clear that if his decision is in favor of Mr. Walker, he probably will carry New York. Certainly he will have the support of Tammany Hall. If his decision is opposed to Mr. Walker, it is very possible that he will lose Tammany Hall, and maybe lose New York. Mr. Roosevelt is presented here with a proposition that is going to evidence, after all, his independence and his worthiness to be a president of the United States.

We cannot forget that another Democrat, whose moral purpose was paramount in his life, regardless of one's opinion of it in any other respect, rose in the Baltimore convention, and moved that the convention should not nominate any candidate whose nomination was dependent upon the vote of Tammany Hall, and thereby show its subservience to Murphy, Ryan and Belmont.

We recall that when that vote of Tammany Hall turned to Champ Clark, that same great figure in the Democratic party, William Jennings Bryan, in harmony with the resolution he had introduced, transferred the support of the Nebraska delegation from Champ Clark to Mr. Wilson. Mr. Wilson had no hesitancy in the lineup between Tammany Hall, and those who were opposed to it, of standing by those who were opposed to Tammany Hall.

While it is very probable that Mr. Roosevelt has many followers in the nation, and according to predictions, right now would be supported by a majority of the people, yet we believe we can say without any hesitancy, that the people of this country do not want a man in the White House who shows subservience to an institution like Tammany Hall, which has reduced political corruption to a science. We are glad that we will be able to know, when Mr. Roosevelt speaks on this decision more concerning his acuteness and sincerity than we have ever known before.

Many wonder at the huge number of people just aching for a chance to step into some congressman's shoes. Maybe that's the only prospect they have of getting a pair.

CANDIDATES OBSCURE

Senator Borah, in speaking at Minneapolis yesterday, was asked in case he were a candidate for President on a third party ticket, if he would take the same position as that expressed in his Minneapolis address. His reply to the woman who asked him was: "If I were the head of a third party, I would be doing the same thing as these other gentlemen. I have the advantage of not being a candidate for office."

What Mr. Borah said is all too true. It is a rare and exceptional candidate for public office who places his convictions and his purposes ahead of his desire to be elected. A campaign is a queer game. It is conducted wrong-end-to. The candidates proceed to go out before the people, and tell the people what they think the people would like to hear, and avoid taking a position upon those matters where the people have convictions, that are out of harmony, probably, with what the candidate proposes to do.

In other words, too frequently the candidate is avoiding and side-stepping the issue, while the people are trying to find out where the candidate actually stands. Instead of the candidate campaigning, out to get the vote of the people, the people should be campaigning themselves, determined to learn the attitude of the candidate upon the important issues which affect them in all the walks of life. They should be congratulated and helped, wherever possible, to succeed along this line.

KANSAS EXPRESSES ITSELF ON THE REPEAL PLANK

It is a pretty good joke on the Democrats. Senator McGill of Kansas has just been nominated over the opposition of a Congressman who had come out against him on the platform of the repeal of the 18th Amendment. And the Governor, who is a bachelor, and also "dry," was renominated. These votes were by about a three to one vote.

The "drys" won, of course, for the Republican nomination. And these "drys" were anti-repeal. It indicates that there are many men and millions of people in the country who do not change their minds simply by the passing of a resolution at a liquor-controlled convention.

DAVID AND GOLIATH

I till the soil, I ply the hoe,
The beds I smooth and flatten,
I plant my garden, row on row,
That bugs may thrive and fatten.
Among the weeds the rascals lurk
And grin in glad elation;
They think I'm doing all that work
To feed the insect nation.

The while they watch me spray about
A cloud of poison powder,
I hear their shrill triumphant shout
Grow louder and still louder.
Raw arsenic they calmly crunch
Between their sharp incisors;
Insecticides, before their lunch,
They take as appetizers.

Each year I hold the eager hope,
The while the seeds I scatter,
That I may rear a cantaloupe
To serve upon my platter.
Each year they gnaw it from its stem
Or swarm in hordes inside it;
It makes a luscious meal for them,
And I, of course, provide it.

A man has strength and will and brain
Beside the gift of reason,
And yet he battles bugs in vain
For season after season.
His nicely tended garden plot
The creatures make the most of,
Till he discovers he has not
So very much to boast of.

POOR PRACTICE

If Mr. Roosevelt believes he is going to be called to the helm of the ship of state he ought to begin rehearsing with something bigger than a yawl.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

Having the election in November is wise. By that time people forget how the candidates got nominated. Some merchants sell for cash; some collect on the first of the month; and some have rich patrons. A candidate is a man who favors doing something for the poor and leaves you to guess what it is. Still, a man with such talent as a publicity agent shouldn't waste his life as an explorer. Political speeches will be shorter this time. Generalities cover ground in a hurry.

AMONG THE THINGS THAT NEVER COME BACK ARE ABOUT 50 THOUSAND INCOME TAX BLANKS SENT OUT FROM REVENUE OFFICES.

If the cancellation of Europe's debt would make times good, why not cancel all of our debts and have a boom? All humans are funny, and the native at a resort wishes he had money enough to get away from the darned place. Kentucky feudists are shooting one another again, investigators being too scarce for target practice.

AMERICANISM: Fearing minorities that have power only because they are organized; still trying to influence the Government by individual howling.

Another way country people kill time is by wishing they were back in the country. The intelligentsia are those who impress one another by revealing all of the inside stuff that isn't so. Maybe a great man subscribes to a clipping bureau just to see if the Press has discovered his freedom from vanity.

A SMART WIFE CAN MAKE HER HUSBAND SHAVE REGULARLY. SHE CAN TAKE IN A GOOD-LOOKING FEMALE BOARDER.

There's one thing about wild oats. You needn't get up at 3 a. m. to begin cutting them. If a mere citizen breaks his word, it is because he is no good; if a statesman does it, it is because politics is funny. How unfortunate that the man who knows how to save the country always forgets in the excitement of taking office. You can tell the upper class. It is the one that owes the lower class six months' pay for doing the washing.

PACKING

Your mother is generally the best packer in the house and is proud of it, while your father is generally the worst and thinks it's funny, thus keeping everybody satisfied and proving it's a good system. Sometimes it makes your father so sad and giddy to see your mother doing all the packing that he has to go out and take a walk to make him feel better.

When your family goes away on a vacation your mother has to pack 2 big trunks and about 10 suitcases and is still expected to know where everything is in each one, the funny part being she generally does. But it is dangerous to let your father even pack his own suitcases because he is liable to leave his pocketbook in his other coat all a ways at the bottom and even then not know where it is.

The worst time to ask your mother foolish questions is when she is half ways through packing, but on the other hand it's the best time to ask her if she needs any help in case you have an ambition to sound useful without actually taking any risks.

If everything falls out of a suitcase when you open it, it was properly packed by a man or a boy, and if everything was put in so perfect you had to muss it all up to find one little thing, it was properly packed by a lady.

Even animals know how to pack in winter time, squirrels by packing nuts and bears packing themselves.

In the Long Ago

14 Years Ago Today
From The Register Files

AUGUST 4, 1918

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Garstang and family returned from an enjoyable camping outing at Orange County Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vandermaast of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sillman of Fullerton, were home from a motor trip to the Yosemite where they had spent two weeks.

The latest efficiency feature in aircraft production was the motorcycle equipment for reconnaissance planes in use abroad. The object was to have the motorcycle in readiness for use when landings were made on the outskirts of a city or in the country, and the idea originated with Glenn Martin, Santa Ana flyer who was an aviator and airplane builder for the U. S. government.

Bids for the erection of a four-room school building for Mexican pupils, were referred back to the contractors by the board of education because of certain contemplated changes in plans and specifications. Earlier plans to have the building ready for use by the opening of schools in September, were abandoned.

Life

TOWARDS A SOCIALIZED CAPITALISM

In a recent issue of the Survey, Albert G. Milbank contributed a distinctly prophetic article under the title of Socialized Capitalism. Mr. Milbank is not an irresponsible radical theorizer. He is a member of the law firm of Milbank, Tweed, Hope & Webb. He is a director of the Chase National Bank and of the Title Guarantee and Trust company. He is chairman of the board of the Borden Company. And so on.

"Starting with the premise," he says, "that Socialism in its extreme form destroys some of the finest and most useful qualities in the individual and that Capitalism in its extreme form makes the individual a predatory animal rather than a social being, let us spend but little time on the suggestion to scrap the existing order and let us turn our thoughts upon the rehabilitation of the capitalist system."

Mr. Milbank suggests that such rehabilitation of the capitalist system must have four major objectives:

- (1) To humanize industry and business.
- (2) To mutualize business and industry.
- (3) To stabilize business and industry.

(4) To socialize business and industry.

As one reads through the bill of particulars with which Mr. Milbank invests these four objectives, it is obvious that as one of the leading figures in the capitalist system of America he is concerned to recognize the virtues and root out the vices alike of capitalism and of socialism as a preliminary to the creation on this continent of an economic and social system that might properly be described, as I phrased it yesterday, as a regime of socially minded individualism.

Mr. Milbank represents a type of thinking sorely needed at the centers of political and economic power in the United States.

He declines to believe that everything about socialism is bad. He declines to believe that everything about capitalism is good.

He seems singularly free from the intellectual blindnesses of the reactionary and of the radical.

I hope every reader of this article will read Mr. Milbank's extended paper in the issue of the Survey for July 1, 1932.

Next week, if my attention is not drawn elsewhere, I shall discuss in detail Mr. Milbank's four objectives.

"MY RIGHTS"

"All I want is my rights. I'm not asking father and mother for anything else. I have a right to do what I want to do. I have to live my own life, don't I?" So often I hear that. Only a very young person can speak that way. The older ones know that rights are barren things, given to laughing in one's bewildered face. Rights are the husks of life. There is no sustaining nourishment in them.

The isolated adolescent who resents his parents' control shouts for his rights. He wants to marry the wrong girl. That she is the wrong girl is clear to everyone but himself. "I have the right to marry whom I please," he yells in a voice he longs to believe is thunder.

That is true. He has the right to marry whom he pleases and the only reason his people interfere ever so mildly, is the fact that he is unable to carry the responsibility that he is shouldering so aggressively. If he could go his way free of his family ties, free of any need of them, all would be well. But he needs his father and his mother and his relatives. He can no more live happily without their supporting influence than he can fly. Today he throws them off in childish rage but tomorrow he will return to them in childish helplessness. His rights won't sustain him.

The girl who announces that she has the right to live her own life usually means that she wants to have the approval of her people for doing something utterly wrong headed and childishly adolescent. She wants to leave home so she can be free of family supervision. Why? She wants the company of young people who defy the conventions, who keep late hours, who laugh at responsibility.

GERMANS RETREAT

On Aug. 4, 1918, German troops were reported evacuating Albert, one of the cities taken during their first offensive in March. British and French forces were on the offensive on a wide front in the vicinity of Montdidier and reported important gains.

American and French forces operating in the Marne sector continued their great push forward, crossing the Vesle in many places and pushing through the lines prepared by German reserves to stop the allied advance.

On the Balkan front, the Austrian troops were again defeated and were forced to abandon the Fier-Berat line.

French official sources reported that 184 German planes had been brought down by French flyers in July.
